FRESH TREMORS ARE SHAKING SANTA BARBARA

NIGHT OF TERROR, RESIDENTS ARE PANIC STRICKEN

SHOCKS ROCK THE CITY, SHAKING DOWN WALLS OF RUINED BUILDINGS

ENTIRE POPULACE SLEPT IN THE OPEN LAST NIGHT

(By United Press)
Santa Barbara, June 30.—Strict martial rule was established in Santa Barbara today following a night of terror when fresh tremors rocked the city, shook down walls of ruined buildings and kept residents in a state of near panic.

A severe quake at 1:20 A. M. today shook further fear into the hearts of a frightened populace and caused the collapse of quake-cracked buildings lining State Street, the leading thoroughfare. This jolt was followed by intermittent tremors of lesser intensity which kept residents in a constant state of nervous fright.

The next definite tremor was felt at 4:42 A. M., just 22 hours after the first terrible upheaval that laid the "city of splendor" in ruins. The most recent shock came at 5:55 A. M. today.

Several minor injuries were sustained by police and wreckers working in the devastated area in the heart of the city, but no serious casualties were reported.

Strict orders from police and military headquarters were issued to immediately clear the streets of pedestrians and motorists. The devastated area is roped off and no one but police and military are allowed on the inside.

Highways Patrolled
Highways leading into Santa Barbara were patrolled by expert traffic men, volunteer officers from Los Angeles Traffic Squad. Visitors were forbidden to enter Santa Barbara for the first time in the history of the famous tourist resort.

Motor caravans of visitors were ordered away early this morning and thousands of curious sightseers were prevented from seeing the ruined city.

Last night's visitors included one-fourth of the film stars from Hollywood. Most of them had brought blankets prepared to sleep on the hillside near Santa Barbara until daylight, but the severe quake which jolted the city at 1:20 A. M. sent them hurrying home.

The entire populace slept in the open last night. Back yards, lawns and hillsides became a great open sleeping grounds. Some carried complete sleeping outfits, including mattresses, pillows and bed covers to the fields and mountains on the outskirts of the city.

Heavy Shock at 6:45 A. M.
A single, violent shock equalling in intensity the original quake at 6:45 A. M. yesterday seized and rattled the city at an hour when inhabitants and rescue workers alike believed danger past.

For several minutes following the initial crash, the earth continued to tremble violently. The din as ruined walls collapsed further and new buildings came down was terrific. Then followed the cries, shouts and screams of the people who had thought to catch a brief nap from the terrors of yesterday.

Out from the houses and from tents in which many had taken precautions to sleep, found Santa Barbara to view the fresh destruction. Hundreds of special officers and marines were at their posts and assisted in keeping as much order as possible through the disaster.

Darkness increased the fear as bricks, debris and picturesque Spanish cornices that were Santa Barbara's pride came hurtling down. All possible illumination was turned on the ruins in an effort to determine whether the new shocks had added to the death list.

The fronts of the city's magnificent banks, theatres and hotels which stood like sentinels among the ruins of Monday's quake swayed and trembled in the grip of this morning's tremors. The rear parts of most of these buildings had been shaken down into a confusion of

'AD' WARNINGS ON ROADS ILLEGAL

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT WINS IN ACTION OVER SIGNS

St. Paul, June 30.—Warning signs and traffic regulators on Minnesota highways are illegal unless erected by the state highway department.

This, in effect, was the ruling of District Judge O. B. Lewis, when he granted the motion of Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, for judgment dismissing an action brought by the Automatic Sign Advertising Co.

Mr. Babcock threatened to remove all traffic signals and regulators and the plaintiff applied for a temporary injunction, which was granted by Judge Lewis Aug. 7, 1924, restraining the commissioner from removing or interfering with the signals and regulators during pendency of the action.

The plaintiff asked a permanent injunction to restrain Mr. Babcock from removing or interfering with signals in Winona, Anoka, Elk River, Excelsior and other villages and cities in the state.

brick and twisted girders by the first quake.

A Hollywood motion picture studio provided powerful spotlights which were turned on the ruins of the Arlington Hotel where despite the new quake searchers kept at their work of searching for bodies. Elsewhere throughout the city the work of wrecking crews and rescue parties was suspended.

During the day, tense and frightened by the series of tremors and rumbling which had kept them awake all night, inhabitants cleared their homes of all worthwhile belongings and put them in the open spaces. There was no evidence of looting or of disorder.

Those who had delayed the exodus from the city joined the long line of cars that had pointed their headlights out of town. There was a tremor at 9:41 and not another until 1:20 A. M. Another lighter shock came at 4:42 and still another at 5:55 A. M. today.

The telephone company's building adjoining the United Press Telegraph office shook on its foundation and frightened employees from the partially ruined building. One of them narrowly escaped with his life when he missed a shower of falling bricks.

The Hotel Carillo across the street, one of the few large buildings that remained standing in the city, trembled violently and cornices and stones fell in showers to the pavement. In some parts the main highway north and south was nearly closed by earthquake slides and great cracks.

The transport Arkansas arrived with relief for the Red Cross workers and 200 sailors and marines for guard duty.

Advices from Los Angeles 100 miles away say that all spare fighting equipment there has been mobilized and is ready for a fast run to Santa Barbara should further quake set the ruins ablaze again.

City Manager Munnion estimated that $10,000,000 worth of valuables were awaiting recovery by owners.

Santa Barbara's famed residential section was virtually deserted. Entire families trekked to the hillsides

N. P. AND G. N. EARNINGS SHOW BIG GAIN IN MAY

LARGE INCREASES REPORTED IN GROSS AND NET INCOMES OVER 1924

MONTHLY FINANCIAL STATEMENTS WERE MADE PUBLIC EARLY IN WEEK

St. Paul, June 30.—Both the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railways report large increases in gross and net earnings for May, as compared with May, 1924, in their monthly financial statements made public Monday.

Net income of the Northern Pacific last month was $685,899, more than four times as great as the $171,134 reported for May, 1924. The exact gain was $514,673. The carrier's net revenue from railway operations was $1,070,781 last month, as against $474,504 a year ago, representing a gain of $596,277.

Gross operating revenues of the Northern Pacific for May were $7,002,703, an increase of $127,077 over the $6,875,626 reported for May last year. Operating expenses for the month declined $469,200, from $6,401,122 last year to $5,931,922 in May, 1925.

For the five months of 1925, to June 1, both gross and net incomes of the road showed decreases. Gross revenues totaled $34,301,576 for the period, as against $35,476,034, a drop of $1,174,458. Operating expenses for the five months of this year also declined $882,870 as compared with 1924, from $29,472,513 to $28,589,643. Net revenue to June 1, 1925, was $5,711,933 as against $6,003,521, a decrease of $291,588. Net operating income, less taxes and rentals, amounted to $4,059,456, a decline of $441,426 from the $4,500,882.

The Great Northern railway reported gains of $429,342 in gross revenues for May, as compared with a year ago, and an increase of $308,194 in net operating income. For the five months of 1925, the Great Northern increased its net operating income $597,344. The Great Northern also announced a large purchase of freight equipment. This includes 2,000 underframes for box cars, 1,000 ordered from the Stems-Stempel Co. of St. Paul, and 1,000 from the Pressed Steel Car Co. The road also has contracted with the latter concern for 200 steel underframes for 50-ton flat cars.

CHAPLIN WANTED A BABY GIRL

Hollywood, Calif., June 30.—Charlie Chaplin, comic film artist, is the father of a baby boy today, but he is disappointed, because it was not a girl.

The temperamental comedian will leave Hollywood within a few days for an extended European tour.

He denied reports in studio circles today that he would file suit for divorce while in Paris, one of the points on his itinerary.

Lita Grey Chaplin, the 17-year-old mother, was reported convalescing satisfactorily today.

NEW COUNCIL IN MINNEAPOLIS MAKES CHANGES

2 CITY OFFICE HOLDERS, ONE A VETERAN, SLATED FOR DISCARD

CITY CLERK KNOTT, 15 YEARS IN OFFICE, SUCCEEDED BY EDGAR NOYES

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, June 30.—Two city office holders, one a veteran of several administrations, are slated for the discard when the new council selects department heads for the year next week.

Henry Knott, city clerk for the past 15 years and member of the board of registration, will be succeeded by Edgar Noyes, reading clerk in the last session of the legislature. John Walquist, former alderman and now connected with the teachers' retirement fund association, will succeed George Adams who is completing his first two-year term as city assessor.

The new slate was selected at a caucus of the 17 anti-radical members of the council last night, at which time it was voted to retain N. W. Elsberg as city engineer and postpone action on Neil Cronin for city attorney.

4 VETERAN POLICE CAPTAINS DEMOTED

POWERFUL ELECTRIC MONOPOLY FORECAST

GOV. GIFFORD PINCHOT SPEAKS AT ST. PAUL ASSOCIATION

(By United Press)
St. Paul, June 30.—An electric monopoly so powerful that it will force humans to use its power or abandon civilized living altogether was foreseen by Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania in an address delivered at a luncheon meeting of the St. Paul Association here today. Governor Pinchot is making a speaking tour urging the adoption of a giant power program started in Pennsylvania to remove Grudgery from life. This is to be done by effective regulation of the electrical industry so that power may be cheaply supplied for every use in the home, factory, farm or mine.

Otherwise the monopoly octopus will stretch out its pinnacles in a strengthened grip on mankind, he indicated.

FORD PLANT WILL MAKE GLASS FROM MINNESOTA SAND

ST. PAUL CONTRACTOR SAYS PRELIMINARY WORK TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

NEW FACTORY TO GIVE EMPLOYMENT FOR TWO THOUSAND MEN

St. Paul, June 30.—Glass will be manufactured out of Minnesota sand at the Ford plant by Dec. 1.

This was the announcement following the awarding of the contract to erect the $4,000,000 glass-making plant to H. C. Struchen, St. Paul contractor.

Upon his return from Detroit, Mr. Struchen said that preliminary construction work will be started this week and the project rushed to completion.

The glass plant will be erected on the river bank below the steam plant and the glass will be manufactured in the long craneway in the manufacturing building.

This craneway is 1,400 feet long and is not now used. The glass-blowing furnaces, pit houses, etc., will occupy 650 feet and the remainder of the space will be devoted to finishing work.

Construction of the huge furnace for the glass plant requires the blasting of a hole 22 feet deep through solid rock. This will be placed in the north end of the building. The work will require about one month, it was said.

The glass plant will furnish employment for about 2,000 men.

This will be the first glass manufactured in this section of the northwest. It is part of Henry Ford's plan to utilize all available raw materials adjacent to his factories. Because of the abundance of these materials in the vicinity of St. Paul and its admirable location for manufacturing purposes, the Ford Motor Co. determined to build its $10,000,000 plant here, moving the assembly plant from Minneapolis.—St. Paul Daily News.

NORSEMEN HAVE GIVEN MUCH KVALE DECLARES

Chicago, June 30.—Norse immigrants have received much from America but they also have given much, Congressman O. J. Kvale, Minnesota, told Chicago Norsemen who celebrated the landing of the first extensive Norwegian pilgrimage to America 100 years ago.

"Norsemen have always excelled in pursuits of peace," he asserted, "but they also have an admirable war record in the history of the U. S. We have contributed noted constructive service to the domestic life of the nation."

"We have been too modest and conservative about our achievements here. Because we are a frugal hard-working race, we have failed to draw attention to our accomplishments as some of the windier nations have done."

Chicago, June 30.—Japan will declare war on Russia within 10 years "unless the Bolsheviks of Russia stop spreading red propaganda," Count Soyeshima, member of the Japanese House of Peers, declared today.

The count, editor of two newspapers in Japan, contended that war between the United States and Japan is virtually impossible.

CORONER'S JURY GIVES VERDICT

SAYS YOUNG GIRL DIED AS RESULT OF ILLEGAL OPERATION

(By United Press)
Fargo, June 30.—A coroner's jury today decided Jessie Stethol died as a result of an attempted illegal operation.

The girl whose home was in Lamkin, N. D., had worked as a domestic in Jamestown and Fargo. Her body was taken from the office of Dr. D. C. Darrow, aged pioneer physician of Fargo and Moorhead, yesterday. Dr. Darrow refused to testify at the inquest.

Undertakers here said the condition of the body indicated the girl had been dead at least 24 hours when her body was removed. State's Attorney Horner had no comment to make, but indicated he would issue a statement later.

BOY DISAPPEARS SECOND TIME WITH 3 CENTS IN POCKETS

St. Paul, June 30.—Frederick Dehnel, 14-year-old Minneapolis boy, "disappeared" for the second time within the last few days, when he left St. Paul with only three cents in his pocket Saturday night.

He was on his way to visit his grandmother in Michigan, he told H. C. Hotelling, secretary, Ten Thousand Lakes association, when he called at the association's headquarters Ryan hotel, to inquire for road maps.

His chief concern, Mr. Hotelling said, was how he would get past the toll bridge at Hudson, Wis., with only three cents.

Frederick arrived in St. Paul Saturday with F. R. Anderson, 1940 Jesse St., who had been appointed by the Modern Woodmen of America in convention in Chicago to accompany the boy from Chicago back to his home, 2441 Portland Ave., Minneapolis. When Mr. Anderson left the train for a few moments in St. Paul, Frederick staged his second disappearance.

POSSE ORGANIZED PURSUES AND FINDS HIM DEAD BY OWN HAND

(By United Press)
Gordon, Wis., June 30.—Hiding in a clump of trees alongside the highway near here early today, Charles McDorman, 53, a hermit living at Wascott near here, fired on a party of road laborers and killed two. He pointed his rifle at two other men, but it failed to fire.

McDorman who had acted "queer" for the past week was believed to have become suddenly insane. After firing the shots he dashed into the underbrush near the highway and escaped.

A posse hastily organized later found the hermit's body in his home. He had shot himself through the head.

SHERIFF HALTS ELOPEMENT OF YOUTHFUL PAIR

St. Paul, June 30.—His romance over, at least temporarily, George Smith is driving back to St. Paul from Evanston, Ill., accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Cyril Belair.

Geraldine Paden, 499 Goodhue st., the 17-year-old girl with whom he is reported to have eloped, is remaining in Evanston with relatives.

Young Mr. Smith—he is 19 years old—is returning to St. Paul on a charge of driving away without permission an automobile not his own. The complaint was made by Fred Holmes, 435 Banfil st.

It is in the automobile mentioned in the warrant that Smith and the deputy sheriff are returning to St. Paul. Whether George and Geraldine, sweethearts since childhood, were married at Evanston, their relatives have not yet learned.

At any rate, Mrs. Smith, 368 E. Lawson st., the boy's mother, is ready to forgive and bless the children. She said she believes her son is part owner of the automobile. Mr. Holmes claims as his own.

Greatest Earthquakes of Last Quarter Century

Nineteen major earthquakes and eruptions have caused loss of life and property in various parts of the world in the last quarter of a century. One of these was in the United States. The larger disasters of this nature follow:

San Francisco, April 18, 1906—452 lives lost, $350,000,000 in property lost, 265,000 persons made homeless.

Japan, near Tokio and Yokohama, September 1, 1923—192,000 dead and missing, 12,000 injured, 580,000 homes destroyed.

Sicily and Calabria, December 28, 1908—76,483 lives lost, 1,100,000 persons made homeless.

Central Italy, January 13, 1915—29,978 lives lost; Avezzano destroyed. China, December 16, 1920—200,000 lives lost, 10 cities destroyed.

Congestion Worst

Traffic congestion was the chief cause of highway accidents in Montana, Oregon and Washington, reports the United States bureau of public roads after a study of conditions there. Forty per cent of 1,506 accidents observed were due to reckless or careless driving.

Highest Production

April of this year showed a new high record in monthly automobile production. This was 420,373 cars and trucks. The highest month previous to this was May, 1923, when 404,450 cars and trucks were produced.

FORD PLANT WILL MAKE GLASS FROM MINNESOTA SAND

ST. PAUL CONTRACTOR SAYS PRELIMINARY WORK TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

NEW FACTORY TO GIVE EMPLOYMENT FOR TWO THOUSAND MEN

St. Paul, June 30.—Glass will be manufactured out of Minnesota sand at the Ford plant by Dec. 1.

This was the announcement following the awarding of the contract to erect the $4,000,000 glass-making plant to H. C. Struchen, St. Paul contractor.

Upon his return from Detroit, Mr. Struchen said that preliminary construction work will be started this week and the project rushed to completion.

The glass plant will be erected on the river bank below the steam plant and the glass will be manufactured in the long craneway in the manufacturing building.

This craneway is 1,400 feet long and is not now used. The glass-blowing furnaces, pit houses, etc., will occupy 650 feet and the remainder of the space will be devoted to finishing work.

Construction of the huge furnace for the glass plant requires the blasting of a hole 22 feet deep through solid rock. This will be placed in the north end of the building. The work will require about one month, it was said.

The glass plant will furnish employment for about 2,000 men.

This will be the first glass manufactured in this section of the northwest. It is part of Henry Ford's plan to utilize all available raw materials adjacent to his factories. Because of the abundance of these materials in the vicinity of St. Paul and its admirable location for manufacturing purposes, the Ford Motor Co. determined to build its $10,000,000 plant here, moving the assembly plant from Minneapolis.—St. Paul Daily News.

NORSEMEN HAVE GIVEN MUCH KVALE DECLARES

Chicago, June 30.—Norse immigrants have received much from America but they also have given much, Congressman O. J. Kvale, Minnesota, told Chicago Norsemen who celebrated the landing of the first extensive Norwegian pilgrimage to America 100 years ago.

"Norsemen have always excelled in pursuits of peace," he asserted, "but they also have an admirable war record in the history of the U. S. We have contributed noted constructive service to the domestic life of the nation."

"We have been too modest and conservative about our achievements here. Because we are a frugal hard-working race, we have failed to draw attention to our accomplishments as some of the windier nations have done."

FRENCH ARMY IS BEING TAKEN OUT OF VALLEY

(By United Press)
Paris, June 30.—The Quai D'Orsay announced that France's army is being gradually withdrawn from the Ruhr and that the withdrawal will be completed by August 16, the date agreed upon in the London conference for clearance of the Ruhr region.

JAPAN MAY DECLARE WAR ON RUSSIA IN 10 YEARS

(By United Press)
Chicago, June 30.—Japan will declare war on Russia within 10 years "unless the Bolsheviks of Russia stop spreading red propaganda," Count Soyeshima, member of the Japanese House of Peers, declared today.

The count, editor of two newspapers in Japan, contended that war between the United States and Japan is virtually impossible.

CORONER'S JURY GIVES VERDICT

SAYS YOUNG GIRL DIED AS RESULT OF ILLEGAL OPERATION

(By United Press)
Fargo, June 30.—A coroner's jury today decided Jessie Stethol died as a result of an attempted illegal operation.

The girl whose home was in Laramie, N. D., had worked as a domestic in Jamestown and Fargo. Her body was taken from the office of Dr. D. C. Darrow, aged pioneer physician of Fargo and Moorhead, yesterday. Dr. Darrow refused to testify at the inquest.

Undertakers here said the condition of the body indicated the girl had been dead at least 24 hours when her body was removed. State's Attorney Horner had no comment to make, but indicated he would issue a statement later.

BOY DISAPPEARS SECOND TIME WITH 3 CENTS IN POCKETS

St. Paul, June 30.—Frederick Dehnel, 14-year-old Minneapolis boy, "disappeared" for the second time within the last few days, when he left St. Paul with only three cents in his pocket Saturday night.

He was on his way to visit his grandmother in Michigan, he told H. C. Hotelling, secretary, Ten Thousand Lakes association, when he called at the association's headquarters Ryan hotel, to inquire for road maps.

His chief concern, Mr. Hotelling said, was how he would get past the toll bridge at Hudson, Wis., with only three cents.

Frederick arrived in St. Paul Saturday with F. R. Anderson, 1940 Jesse St., who had been appointed by the Modern Woodmen of America in convention in Chicago to accompany the boy from Chicago back to his home, 2441 Portland Ave., Minneapolis. When Mr. Anderson left the train for a few moments in St. Paul, Frederick staged his second disappearance.

WELL KNOWN REAL ESTATE MAN DIED

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, June 30.—James Conklin, President of the Conklin-Zone-Loomis Company, and prominent in real estate circles, died at his home at Lake Minnetonka Monday night.

Besides his business prominence, Conklin was actively engaged in civic enterprises. He was one of the organizers and a charter member of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association.

AFFRAY TOOK PLACE NEAR GORDON, WIS.

CHARLES McDORMAN THEN DASHES INTO UNDER- BRUSH

POSSE ORGANIZED PURSUES AND FINDS HIM DEAD BY OWN HAND

(By United Press)
Gordon, Wis., June 30.—Hiding in a clump of trees alongside the highway near here early today, Charles McDorman, 53, a hermit living at Wascott near here, fired on a party of road laborers and killed two. He pointed his rifle at two other men, but it failed to fire.

McDorman who had acted "queer" for the past week was believed to have become suddenly insane. After firing the shots he dashed into the underbrush near the highway and escaped.

A posse hastily organized later found the hermit's body in his home. He had shot himself through the head.

SHERIFF HALTS ELOPEMENT OF YOUTHFUL PAIR

St. Paul, June 30.—His romance over, at least temporarily, George Smith is driving back to St. Paul from Evanston, Ill., accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Cyril Belair.

Geraldine Paden, 499 Goodhue st., the 17-year-old girl with whom he is reported to have eloped, is remaining in Evanston with relatives.

Young Mr. Smith—he is 19 years old—is returning to St. Paul on a charge of driving away without permission an automobile not his own. The complaint was made by Fred Holmes, 435 Banfill st.

It is in the automobile mentioned in the warrant that Smith and the deputy sheriff are returning to St. Paul. Whether George and Geraldine, sweethearts since childhood, were married at Evanston, their relatives have not yet learned.

At any rate, Mrs. Smith, 368 E. Lawson st., the boy's mother, is ready to forgive and bless the children. She said she believes her son is part owner of the automobile. Mr. Holmes claims as his own.

Greatest Earthquakes of Last Quarter Century

Nineteen major earthquakes and eruptions have caused loss of life and property in various parts of the world in the last quarter of a century. One of these was in the United States. The larger disasters of this nature follow:

San Francisco, April 18, 1906—452 lives lost, $350,000,000 in property lost, 265,000 persons made homeless.

Japan, near Tokio and Yokohama, September 1, 1923—192,000 dead and missing, 12,000 injured, 580,000 homes destroyed.

Sicily and Calabria, December 28, 1905—76,483 lives lost, 1,100,000 persons made homeless.

Central Italy, January 13, 1915—29,978 lives lost; Avezzano destroyed.

China, December 16, 1920—200,000 lives lost, 19 cities destroyed.

Congestion Worst

Traffic congestion was the chief cause of highway accidents in Montana, Oregon and Washington, reports the United States bureau of public roads after a study of conditions there.

Forty per cent of 1,906 accidents observed were due to reckless or careless driving.

Highest Production

April of this year showed a new high record in monthly automobile production. This was 420,373 cars and trucks. The highest month previous to this was May, 1923, when 404,450 cars and trucks were produced.

COMMITTEES MET MONDAY

Final Preparations Made For The Big Celebration on Saturday

Hon. Harold Knutson, U. S. representative from the Sixth district, will be the principal speaker at Brainerd's Fourth of July celebration Saturday at Lum park.

All of the committees met on Monday evening, and made final preparations for the big celebration, which will be staged under the auspices of the American Legion, and which promises to be the biggest thing of its kind ever attempted in this section.

The observance is to begin at 5:45 o'clock on Saturday morning with a grand salute, the report of which will be heard for miles. This salute is furnished by the company from whom the fireworks were purchased.

Lum park will be thrown open to the public promptly at 6 o'clock in the morning, and from that time until the wee small hours of the morning there will be plenty of entertainment for old and young.

The patriotic program will be rendered at 11 o'clock, and will include music by the municipal band, invocation by Rev. E. A. Cooke, and the address by Hon. Harold Knutson.

Preceding this program by one hour, will be the grand miniature parade, one of the big features of the day. Local merchants are showing a lively interest in this parade, and are preparing small floats which will be entered. It is pointed out that such floats require very little time to prepare, and can be arranged at practically no expense. Several local organizations, as well as individuals will enter floats, also. Emphasis is laid on the fact that the children are invited and urged to prepare floats, and prizes will be offered for the best entrants. The boys are asked to decorate their coaster wagons, and the girls their doll carriages.

It is planned that the patriotic program shall be a short one, probably consuming only a half hour. Directly following it the Brainerd Municipal band will give a concert until noon, at which time the boy scouts of the county council will stage life saving demonstrations, and the daylight fireworks will be set off.

The dinner hour is left to the public to enjoy as it sees fit. The majority of those attending will no doubt bring their picnic dinners, for which facilities are the best. There is ample room in the park for as many picnic parties as can be arranged, both from the city and the rural districts. Friends, neighbors and relatives will band together and make these picnics delightfully festive occasions.

The sports program is to be staged immediately after the noon hour. The sports committee has a fine list of contests which will be carried out for boys and girls, men and women, and for which prizes will be awarded the winners. The Brainerd Boys band, under the direction of E. A. Page, will give a concert at 1:30 o'clock.

There will be dancing in the pavilion from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and again in the evening, starting at 9 o'clock. Hedstrom's orchestra will furnish the music for these dances, which fact amply insures their success. The afternoon dances are to be charged for at the rate of ten cents per dance.

At 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon the local post of the American Legion will offer a diving exhibition. There is much fine talent in the post, which has never been exploited before, and some new stunts in fancy and distance diving is promised.

The Brainerd Boys band will render a concert from 7 to 8:30 o'clock in the evening, at which time the evening fireworks, about $400 worth, will be set off, the climax to the big day's celebration.

A record breaking attendance is assured, a great many more coming from the surrounding territory this year than came last Fourth. Local people are urged to support their home town celebration instead of planning to spend the day elsewhere.

1808 MODEL NEWSPAPER IN MISSOURI

(By United Press)
Kansas City, Kansas, June 30.—Current history of the Mississippi Valley and Indian times, later enhanced by the passing of time and enshrouded by the indulgences of school books, can be read in hand set cold type in the original copy of the Missouri Gazette, owned by Mrs. Lottie Johnston, of this city.

The copy, dated "St. Louis, Louisiana, July 26, 1808," relates frontier and early American news in a manner that would make the modern reader forsake a James Fenimore Cooper volume to rush out and buy the next edition. One reads:

"The Osages have lately committed so many outrages on the frontiers that government have permitted the Delaware's, Shawane's, Kickapoos, &c. &c. to go to war with them. We understood from some of the chiefs of the latter, that they will be able to bring about 5,000 warriors into the plains, and it is probable the Osages will get the Panies to join them; as the invaders must march into the plains, & as the Osages and Panies fight on horseback, there is no doubt of a warm and important campaign."

"Dispatches," dated as remote as three months prior to publication, appear in the pioneer paper, mentioning the "Chesapeake," the good ship commanded by Capt. James Lawrence, who was destined to become a War of 1812 hero and originator of the eulogized battle cry, "Don't give up the ship."

Evidence that the war of 1812 was considered inevitable is hinted in a London story, telling of an English ship which had been denied provisions and water by the "Yankees" because the British and American ministers had not decided "whether it would be peace or war between the two countries."

An account, from Paris, was written April 12 and arrived only in time to be published July 26. It, too, spoke of war, this one between France and "the enemy," which was not identified.

Contrary to present day newspaper principles, local news stories formed a small part of the week's account. The longest of these, a murder story, contained ten lines. Two gun days seemingly would take all the bombast out of black headlines on such minor incidents.

To top it all, Chicago and New York, modern centers of news emanations, didn't count with the Gazette—not one item referred to Broadway's butterflies or Chicago's street of forgotten men. Washington correspondents were unheard of; one story pertaining to the capital found its way from Baltimore.

It had not fallen to the newspaper to supply the people's romance.

The Highway Riddle

Hastings Gazette

Is Minnesota spending enough money for highway improvement?

Therein is a question that seems to find no comprehensive—or at least no satisfactory—reply.

It is a question that may be argued, with supporting evidence and data, from two angles.

Good roads are good, from one viewpoint; they are bad from another.

Good roads are an inducement to the public to travel more by auto. The more auto travel, the more accidents. The conclusion is inevitable unless we can invent a non-destructible, non-reversible, fool-proof and drunken driverless automobile, an undertaking that is considerably more hopeless than are the prospects of having all of the state highways paved at the close of 1926.

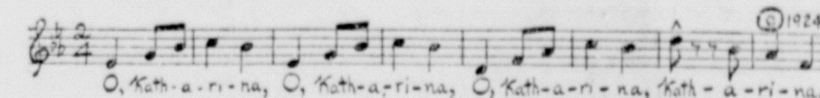

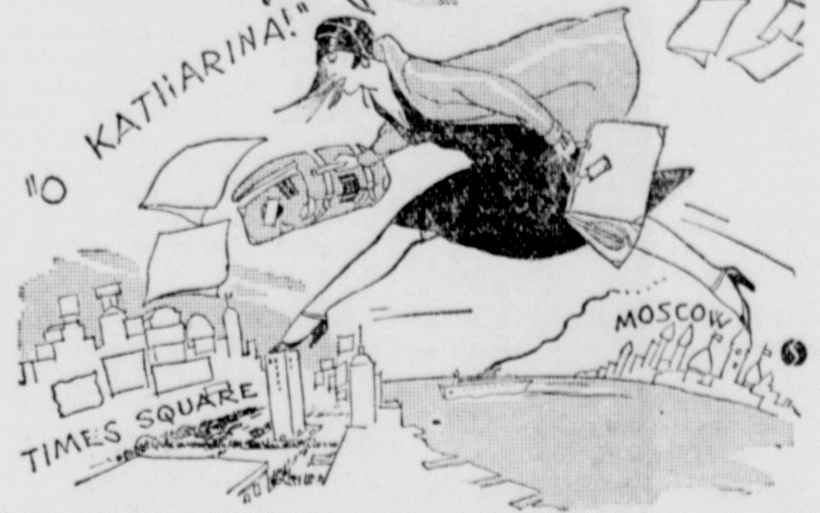

But, for the opposing side of the argument there is this to be conceded: Since it seems to be generally admitted that everyone who can get credit on his groceries will drive an automobile, whether he has a paved highway on which to do his motoring or not, it does not appear that the highway casualty list can be held from increasing by any such debatable method as that of curtailing highway building.

And if we must have the same number of cars, presumably, the same number of accidents, with or without paved auto routes, there is little question but that the majority sentiment will incline toward the elabora-

"Yet that is what I like about America. It is a country where the peasant, if he has what is pretty or clever, is as good as anybody else. We see that at the 'Chauve Souris,' where rich and poor join in singing together the chorus of 'Katharina.' They would never do that in Russia. The aristocrats are too mindful of their dignity."

"But perhaps it will all be different soon. There have been great changes in Russia. And when I tell the women of my land that American ladies of wealth are copying the costume of our peasants—well, perhaps they will do the same."

Out of town guests included Mrs. A. S. Wentworth, of New York; Miss Grace Vaughn, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Alfred Forsgren and Russell Olson, of Crosby. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served following the ceremony.

The newlyweds left for Duluth and the Mesaba range on their honeymoon, after which they will make their home in Milwaukee, where the groom is employed.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Key to Ownership of the Ohio Valley

It was the keen military mind of George Washington that first saw the strategic importance of the spot where the Monongahela and the Allegheny rivers join to form the Ohio, and it was at his recommendation that Governor Dinwiddie of Virginia in 1753 ordered a fort built there to hold the country west of the Appalachians for the English. Hardly had Dinwiddie's party begun to work on the fort when the French appeared, drove them away, demolished the crude stockade and built on its site Fort Duquesne, named for the governor of Canada.

Thus began the great struggle between the French and English, known as the French and Indian war in America and the Seven Years' war in Europe, and control of this outpost on the American frontier was destined to be the principal factor in deciding whether England or France was to control the Ohio valley, and with it North America. It was against Fort Duquesne that General Braddock set out in 1755 on the expedition which ended so disastrously almost within sight of the fort and three years later Major Grant and his Highlanders, the advance guard of General Forbes' army, met a similar disaster while reconnoitering before it. But Forbes, unlike Braddock, did not scorn the advice of George Washington, and he reached his goal.

When he arrived at Fort Duquesne on November 15, 1758, he found that the enemy had left it a smoking ruin. The next year Gen. John Stanwix rebuilt the post and named it Fort Pitt, in honor of the great English minister. It was soon needed, for in 1763 the storm of Pontiac's war broke over the western frontier, and when one British post after another went down before the scalping knife and torch of the savages, Fort Pitt alone, although besieged for several months, held back Pontiac's warriors from driving the English into the sea. It was to Fort Pitt's relief that Col. Henry Bouquet was marching when he won his brilliant victory over the Indians at the battle of Bushy Run, and this fort was the base for his later campaign, in which he smashed Pontiac's power.

During the Revolution Fort Pitt was held by the Americans and at the close of the war it became the starting point for thousands of settlers who poured into the Ohio country. Around it sprang up a little settlement, and today the great city of Pittsburgh, marks the site of Fort Pitt, the key to the Ohio valley.

tion of the better highway policy.

If we are to lose our lives while motoring, we must confess, personally, to a desire to roll smoothly and comfortably along a paved highway to our unhappy fate, rather than to suffer the agony of a thousand and one bumps and jolts that would leave us in no proper frame of mind for that peaceful and calmly impressive exodus so much to be hoped for in an age of hurried and violent departures from earthly responsibilities.

All things considered, it is hardly to be denied that the exponents of more improved highways have the better arguments under existing conditions. Should future developments prove their demands meritorious, it will be necessary for Minnesota to confer some sort of a title upon Commissioner Babcock to compensate him for the splendid work that he has been doing on the state highway program, with totally inadequate funds.

It is good roads that we want, Commissioner Babcock is entitled to better support than he is getting; if we do not desire more improved highways, the state official should be spared the continuous nagging of delegations which are seeking the improvement of innumerable roads while fighting every effort of the commissioner to obtain the funds necessary to give them the desired improvements.

Minnesotans must expect to pay the fiddler if they are going to dance on paved highways.

FULL STOP AT DANGEROUS RAIL-HIGHWAY CROSSINGS

FEDERAL regulations may soon be invoked which require full stops of all cars before making dangerous railway-highway crossings. Brainerd's four great crossings are at Sixth street, Broadway, Oak street, and one near the west shop fence. During the daytime we have railway flagmen at Fourth, Sixth, Eighth and 13th streets. The Fourth street crossing will be used more as soon as the paving strip from Main to Laurel is completed. Oak street crossing is provided with an automatic bell signal. The flagmen are on the other crossings until 6 p. m.

Railroad employees of various roads in the state have been ordered by the safety division working under the Interstate Commerce Commission to report on all dangerous rail-highway crossings preparatory to the enforcement of the federal regulations requiring a full stop by all vehicles approaching such intersections. Traffic conditions will be investigated and wherever safety demands, full stops will be ordered.

At St. Cloud, as reported by the Journal-Press, intersections of the highway with the Great Northern right-of-way from St. Cloud to Sauk Center will probably all be placed on the "stop" list, as well as the Osseo, East St. Germaine street, Wilson avenue crossings and the main highway crossing below Big Lake.

The federal regulation would make it mandatory for all vehicular traffic to come to a full stop before trying to cross railroad right-of-ways at points designated. Signs will be placed where necessary by the rail companies as soon as the order is returned. The regulation is imposed as a measure of safety promoted for interstate carriers.

AMERICA IS SOLVENT

AMERICAN securities touched high-water mark recently. As business is, four and one-fourth is a low rate for money, and yet Liberty bonds bearing that rate sold in the open market at $103.28. It clearly appears that investors here and abroad feel certain that Uncle Sam's bond is much better than its face, reasons the Duluth Herald.

This is immensely gratifying. The government is able to meet its obligations as they mature and even from time to time to reduce the principal of the national debt. It keeps its honor bright. There is no stain on its shield.

When one comes to think about it, it seems that reliability is civilization. It is a solid foundation on which all good must rest. The shifty, furtive man or nation is headed for the swamps.

One effect of this solvency is that the rate of interest on the public debt must lessen. When bonds yielding four and a quarter per cent carry a handsome premium it is evident that bonds at a lesser rate will sell at par. Credit is a fruit of honesty.

American integrity is yoked up with capacity to pay. This is a nation that never has defaulted. The dollar is the world symbol of solvency. When the great war ended, this country was confronted by a mountain of debt. As much as five billions has been paid since the shooting ended. When five billions more have been paid, when all our European creditors resume payment, when the interest on the debt shall have sunk to two per cent, where it belongs, the national debt will be a necessary stabilizer rather than a burden.

AN AID TO EXPRESSION

SOME people wave their hands and use such wig wag system to punctuate their remarks and thus make them more effective. They have a deal of a time when it comes to telephoning for the gymnastics indulged in as a rule make no sound of their own.

Such antics seem funny, but they are comparatively harmless. But woe the listener who faces a man punctuating his remarks by slapping you on the back, head or neck. It does seem peculiar that such a speaker becomes so violent that he has to thump the daylight out of his listener in order to convey the full force of his remarks. Something must be wrong with his powers of reasoning, his use of the art of speech, when he cannot convey the simplest thoughts without resorting to physical chastisement of his listener.

In the old days, when people had no flivvers, no rural lines, no daily mail, no radio, no daily newspapers, it may have been the custom to say "hullo" to your neighbor and then slap him on the back, raising a cloud of dust. But nowadays the punch in the back, head or neck as an accentuation of your remarks is considered decidedly passe by some people, especially the ones who have to bear the shock of such over-enthusiastic greetings. For the more popular you are, the more of a receiving center you become for such terrific short arm wave lengths.

PROFESSIONAL COMMUNITY BOOSTERS

PROFESSIONAL "community boosters" are again traveling over the state offering to show towns who will put up the price how to make their community grow and prosper, warns the Mille Laacs County Times.

There is nothing that an outside booster can do for a community that cannot be done a great deal better by the citizens of the places themselves, comments the Bemidji Daily Pioneer. Community harmony and good feeling cannot be brought about by some sudden stunt, but are the result of years of growth. Professional boosters, who are for the money there is in it, should be politely shown the door.

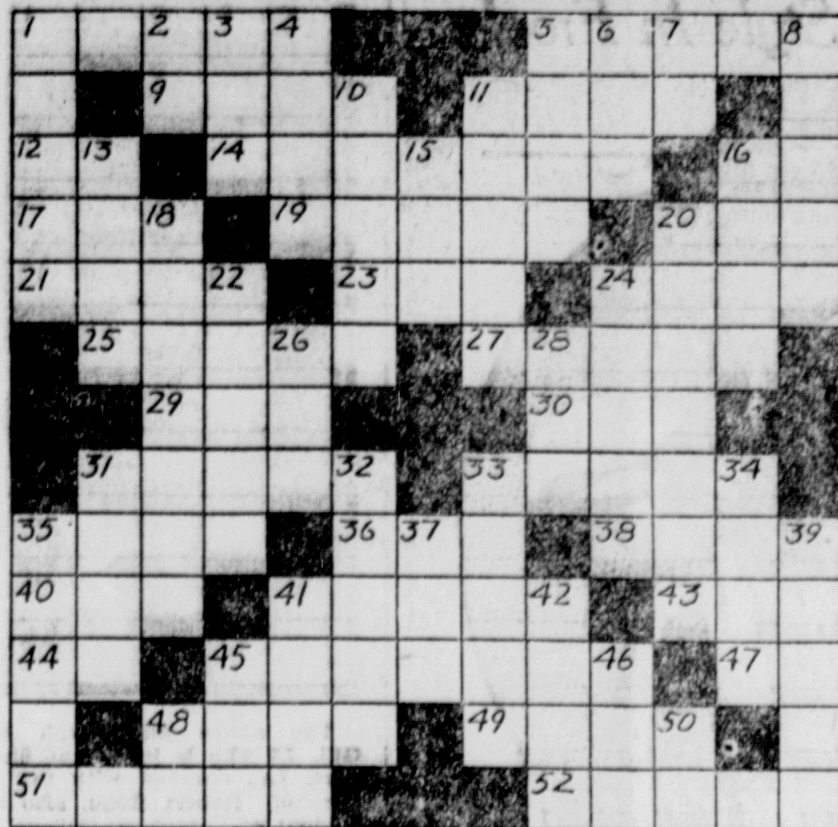

OUR fellow citizen Wm. H. Cleary, well known golf enthusiast, noted THE DISPATCH said two games of golf a week would lengthen an elderly man's life some ten years. "If that's so," said Mr. Cleary, "how much extension will a man gain if he plays every day?"

THE secret is out at last. Minnesotans wondered how "Red" Grange acquired such an uncanny ability to carry the ball in football. "Red" works for an ice company during summer vacations and juggles the elusive ice cake from wagon to the consumers.

HAPPINESS in this world, as concisely expressed by H. L. Mencken, the critic, consists chiefly in getting no more than one wants and wanting no more than one can get.

Too much jazz dancing, says an authority, will make girls' legs bowlegged.

Dancing Girl of the Desert

By ALMA L. SMITH

WNU Service

PERHAPS I had slept an hour on the desert when the uproar started. I sat up suddenly in the darkness of a camel's-hair tent with the echo of a woman's screams vibrating in my ears. Going to the door I beheld in amazement my traveling companions, the Arabs, falling upon their faces, while they chanted loudly in a weird, minor key.

I made out that a baby had died. It belonged to a Persian woman who traveled in a cage-like box on a camel by day, but danced for the footsore pilgrims by night.

As I gazed on the curious people before me the woman sprang from the ground beside her dead child and, waving her bare, dusky arms over the prostrate praying tribe, wildly called down curses on the camel drivers.

Directly they dug a shallow hole and buried the child, while the mother sat apparently unmoved, staring dry-eyed across the heat-scorched sands.

By ones and twos the tired men disappeared into their tents until only the mother, one Arab and myself were left outside. This native was a Hajj, with a beard painted fiery red, and unquestioned authority. He now saw fit to exercise this power by abusing the woman and ordering her to bed. She shrank from him and begged piteously to be let alone. I saw an expression of deepest cruelty over-spread his features as he bent over her, hissing:

"So be it. You sit here this night and tomorrow your ear drums shall be bored in with thorns and your soft eyelids split thrice."

Why, I mused, would I endure the hardships of a desert trip with a band of wanderers, rocking all day on a camel's back, eating only dried fruits and drinking muddy Tigris water from a goatskin—why? Because the sweet siren voice of adventure called—was still calling—and I smiled at the ability of that voice to be heard over these bodily discomforts as I got up and went once more out of the tent for a cool breath.

It was almost immediately that my attention was attracted to a queer-looking object lying on the desert to the east of our camp, near a depression called the Wells. A few low trees and camel thorns grew there, but I did not remember this particular boulder, for such it appeared.

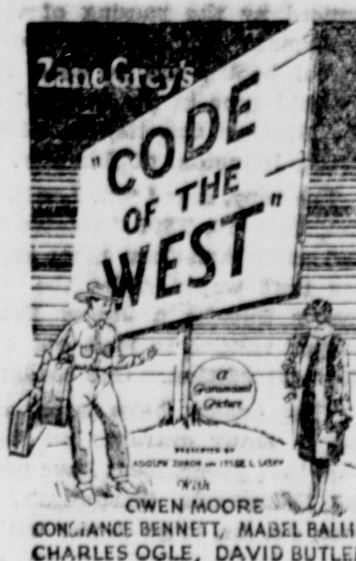

Perhaps, I thought frivolously, some feverish, bespectacled antiquarian dug it up and left it after he had removed the ancient scarab it concealed. The place invited exploration. I decided to walk out to it.

I had gone about half of the distance between the camp and the desert stone when I was brought to a standstill so suddenly that my vertebrae twenked. With a slow, clumsy twitch the thing had rolled perkily over once, then all was still. The sands were silent, with only a desert's silence. This object of my stroll had turned over, unaided by human hands. And more, as it turned I could have sworn it emitted radiant flashes as of diamonds in a basin of gold. My breath came short and hard, my eyes were strained from their sockets—I wanted a little more assurance that I was looking upon a phenomenon. I had not long to wait. The gorgeous apparition turned again and, slowly acquiring a regular motion, came directly toward me. Its revolutions dazzled my eyes as the light of the moon caught the fire of the jewels. Fear and wonder transfixed me while an icy grasp enveloped my arms and legs. I seemed to be freezing with horror—and the ball was gaining speed, fairly whirling toward me, aflame with its own splendor.

Suddenly my paralysis dropped away. Self-preservation sent me running at my highest speed across the hot earth. I believed it was a small celestial body that would kill us with

I was tiring—and that horrible thing just behind me. I staggered against the first tent prop and looked back to gauge the distance between myself and this messenger of death, when a brain-storm seized me. My hand sought my head, there was something vaguely familiar about the shape and swift tumbling motion of the body. A picture of the States and a snare flashed through my head. At this moment the little demon of brilliance swerved from its direct course.

Fear left me. I was trying to remember the faint likeness. Ah! I had it! The contortionists! A tumbler! I was about to congratulate myself when the pathos of it struck me, for the ball had stopped beside the tiny grave and the dancing woman was alone with her dead. The red costume with its million spangles and cheap stones had served her well. Had cruel Hajj seen the fiery ball he would have fallen on his face and implored the sun god to remove this sign of withering drouth. She had planned cautiously.

I went noiselessly into my house of cloth. I know not how long she remained or how she went away. I was only too grateful that the greedy love of adventure had not quite led me into betraying tender mother love.

GARY FINDS THE ELIXIR OF YOUTH

EXERCISE, SLEEP AND HARD WORK AMONG SIMPLE COMPONENTS

New York, June 30.—At 78, Elbert H. Gary, said that he believes he has found the elixir of youth. The veteran head of the United States Steel corporation said the elixir's simple components were prescribed for him by the dietitian and staff of the Gary hospital of the steel corporation at Birmingham, Ala., during his recent tour of inspection.

Moderate exercise, plenty of air and pure water, plenty of sleep, equanimity of temper and hard mental and physical work over no too long a period—these were the first elements of Mr. Gary's prescriptions. Little meat, little starch, or fats or sweets, plenty of green vegetables containing salts, some whole wheat bread, fresh fruits and no alcoholic stimulants were the general dietary rules.

Mr. Gary said he would take another specific training course in the Gary hospital soon.

"I've followed the principle that underlies them all my life," he said, referring to what he calls the golden rules of health. "I've kept my conscience clear. I've worked hard. And I've been abstemious. I believe that Americans are the finest race in the world today. If older men will follow the rules these Alabama doctors have laid down, they will continue to be fit."—Minneapolis Tribune.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Fort That Was Built by Indian Slaves

Among the interesting sights in St. Augustine, Fla. (the oldest town in the United States) is a tablet over the entrance to Fort Marion, bearing the coat of arms of Spain and the following legend: "Don Ferdinand the Sixth, Being King of Spain and the Field Marshal, Don Alonso Fernandez Heredia, Being Governor and Captain General of This Place, St. Augustine, of Florida, and Its Province, This Fort Was Finished in the Year 1763. The Works Were Directed by Don Pedro De Brazos Y Garay."

But this ancient inscription does not tell the full story of the forts in St. Augustine. From the day in 1565 when Pedro Menendez erected there the first rude fortification to hold Florida against the French, there have been a series of fortresses here. And they have been connected with some stirring scenes in Florida colonial history—with the massacre of Jean Ribault's Huguenots by Menendez, with De Gourgues' terrible revenge and with other incidents which gave this "land of flowers" a baptism of blood.

The first fort erected on the present site of Fort Marion was an octagonal wooden structure named San Juan de Pinos, built as early as 1586. It was this fort which Sir Francis Drake, the famous British navigator, captured without resistance during a flying raid on the "Spanish Main" in that year. A little later a more pretentious structure of stone was begun and it was named Fort St. Mark. In 1638 the Spaniards were at war with the Apalachian Indians, who lived near the Suwanee river, and, having defeated them, forced their captives to work on the fortifications for more than 60 years. When Gen. James Oglethorpe, the founder of Georgia, laid siege to St. Augustine in 1740, Montano, the Spanish commandant, had a large force of convicts from Mexico at work on the fort and by this time it was so strong that Oglethorpe failed.

At the close of the French and Indian war Spain, France's ally, was forced to cede Florida to the British. In 1748 it was given back to Spain, who held it until 1819, when the United States purchased it for $5,000,000. On July 10, 1821, the Spanish flag, which had floated over St. Augustine for more than two centuries and a half, was lowered and the Stars and Stripes went up over Fort St. Mark. Some time later it was renamed Fort Marion in honor of Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox."

FAINT TREMORS FELT IN MONTANA

Butte, June 30.—A few faint tremors during the night Sunday reminded persons in the center of Montana's earthquake area of the disturbances Saturday night.

Faint, rumbling echoes of the first few shocks that did all the damage continued early this morning. At Bozeman, two slight shocks were felt before midnight—one at 10:15 P. M. and the other at 11:35 P. M. No damage resulted, but they were sufficient to cause many persons to spend their third night in the open for fear roofs might come tumbling down over their heads.

Tracks of the Great Northern railway were cleared last night of debris from landslides. A new survey of the damage to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul indicates that slides and obstructions may be removed by the end of next week. Trains over the St. Paul road are being routed over the Northern Pacific through the earthquake area.

Valli's Latest, Rinehart Novel, Strong Vehicle

"K—The Unknown," Universal-Jewel with Virginia Valli as star, opens at the Lyceum tonight. The picture-play is the screen version of the novel, "K," by Mary Roberts Rinehart, and the cast and the director are to be congratulated for the sympathy shown the original, both as regards characterization and fidelity to the story.

Miss Valli's work reminds one of her work in "The Signal Tower," although in that she was the wife and mother, while in the present vehicle she is a young woman. But in both instances the surroundings are simple and the characters are of that appealing, human sort that fit Miss Valli so well.

The name part of the story, "K," is portrayed by Percy Marmont. He is the one who deserts a great career to bury his identity in a small town, where he falls in love with Sidney, much to the grief of one of her youthful adorers, who is made to realize that the attractions of the mature man have eclipsed in her affections his bouquets and the boxes of candy of his hated rival, also a youth.

This puppy love is made the instrument on which to hang the comedy of the picture, and also much of the tragedy.

GARY FINDS THE ELIXIR OF YOUTH

EXERCISE, SLEEP AND HARD WORK AMONG SIMPLE COMPONENTS

New York, June 30.—At 78, Elbert H. Gary, said that he believes he has found the elixir of youth. The veteran head of the United States Steel corporation said the elixir's simple components were prescribed for him by the dietitian and staff of the Gary hospital of the steel corporation at Birmingham, Ala., during his recent tour of inspection.

Moderate exercise, plenty of air and pure water, plenty of sleep, equanimity of temper and hard mental and physical work over not too long a period—these were the first elements of Mr. Gary's prescriptions. Little meat, little starch, or fats or sweets, plenty of green vegetables containing salts, some whole wheat bread, fresh fruits and no alcoholic stimulants were the general dietary rules.

Mr. Gary said he would take another specific training course in the Gary hospital soon.

"I've followed the principle that underlies them all my life," he said, referring to what he calls the golden rules of health. "I've kept my conscience clear. I've worked hard. And I've been abstemious. I believe that Americans are the finest race in the world today. If older men will follow the rules these Alabama doctors have laid down, they will continue to be fit."—Minneapolis Tribune.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Fort That Was Built by Indian Slaves

Among the interesting sights in St. Augustine, Fla. (the oldest town in the United States) is a tablet over the entrance to Fort Marion, bearing the coat of arms of Spain and the following legend: "Don Ferdinand the Sixth, Being King of Spain and the Field Marshal, Don Alonzo Fernandez Heredia, Being Governor and Captain General of This Place, St. Augustine, of Florida, and Its Province, This Fort Was Finished in the Year 1766. The Works Were Directed by Don Pedro De Brazos Y Garay."

But this ancient inscription does not tell the full story of the forts in St. Augustine. From the day in 1565 when Pedro Menendez erected there the first rude fortification to hold Florida against the French, there have been a series of fortresses here. And they have been connected with some stirring scenes in Florida colonial history—with the massacre of Jean Ribaut's Huguenots by Menendez, with De Gourgues' terrible revenge and with other incidents which gave this "land of flowers" a baptism of blood.

The first fort erected on the present site of Fort Marion was an octagonal wooden structure named San Juan de Pinos, built as early as 1586. It was this fort which Sir Francis Drake, the famous British navigator, captured without resistance during a flying raid on the "Spanish Main" in that year. BEMIDJI LANDS ANNUAL WALTON LEAGUE OUTING

DEFEATS BRAINERD FOR THE 1926 CONVENTION CITY

LA PORTE PROVED TO BE AN ABLE HOST SATUR- DAY

(Bemidji Daily Pioneer)

Bemidji was selected by district councilmen of the Isaac Walton league for the 1926 meeting of the sixth district council. This year's meeting, the first of its kind held in the state, was held at Laporte Saturday and was a success of the first water. Bemidji was selected over Brainerd and Cass Lake for the 1926 meeting, although the race was really between Bemidji and Brainerd. The latter city was well represented by Waltonians and their combined effort nearly resulted in the meeting going there. However, they volunteered to throw their support to the Bemidji chapter of the league next year and this meeting will be made one of the biggest events of its kind in the state.

Dr. G. M. Palmer of this city, president of the Bemidji chapter, was elected to an important committee chairmanship at the business meeting there and Bemidji thus landed two plums at the convention. O. L. Kaupanger of Laporte was elected general chairman of the sixth district council at the meeting and the various chairmen of the several committees were elected from several cities in this district. G. F. Marshall of Cass Lake is chairman of the Conservation and Propagation committee, Dr. Palmer is chairman of the New Chapter and Membership committee, A. J. Gould of Staples is chairman of the Legislation committee, Geo. N. Malvin of Long Prairie is chairman of the Education and Publicity committee, and W. R. Hiller of Brainerd is chairman of the Wardenship and Enforcement committee. These chairmen each have the right to appoint two members of their committees and according to state secretary Fred H. Doellner of Winona, must get out and do some real work.

About six hundred were in attendance at the meeting in the afternoon, although the morning attendance was not as large. The convention was held in a beautiful grove on the shore of Garfield lake and Laporte certainly deserves the hearty congratulations of Waltonians of this district on the manner in which the meeting was put over. Prominent speakers from different parts of the country were present and gave short talks to the assembled crowd. National President Will Dig and Governor Theo. Christianson were unable to attend because of other business. The talks in the afternoon by prominent members of the league were well received.

Bait casting furnished a thrill for those who enjoy this sport and some excellent records were set up by Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Mitchell of Bemidji and by Ed. Rogers and daughter of Walker. Liberal prizes were awarded to those making the best scores in this contest, the prizes consisting of fishing tackle and an elaborate bird house which is a replica of the league's lodge at Laporte.

The ball game in the afternoon at 4 o'clock drew a big crowd and there was keen disappointment over the poor showing of the Bemidji team. Cass Lake won the game by a score of 12 to 3.

The evening was taken up with the camp fire meeting and an excellent program provided by Laporte people. "Fish Lies" were heard from enthusiastic fishermen but the winner of this contest is not known. An Indian pow-wow by real Indians at the camp fire furnished a thrill for Waltonians who had not seen Indians in their aboriginal dress. The barbecue provided by Armour & Co. was a huge success and the visitors enjoyed this feature of the meeting as much as any other.

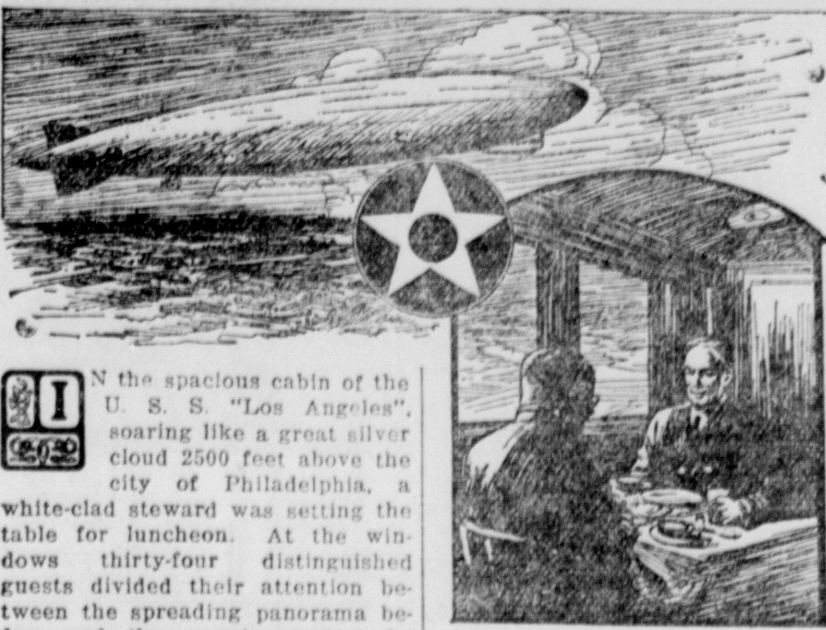

Fishing was indulged in during the morning and evening by many sportsmen and some good catches were made in Garfield lake. The shooting gallery for the benefit of the elk at Jackson Hole in Wyoming was well patronized during the day and a liberal sum of money was provided in this way.

Bemidji hopes in 1926 to put on as good a program and meeting as was provided at Laporte this year, but it is freely admitted that the chapter here will have "to go some."

Olive Diet Stayc Hunger Pangs As Aerial Luncheon Languishes

IN the spacious cabin of the U. S. S. "Los Angeles", soaring like a great silver cloud 2500 feet above the city of Philadelphia, a white-clad steward was setting the table for luncheon. At the windows thirty-four distinguished guests divided their attention between the spreading panorama below and the ever-increasing demands of appetite. From the electric galley were wafted various savory odors.

A bell sounded, and with surprising unanimity the watchers at the windows deserted their posts and took their places around the tables. The white expanses of linen glittered with crystal and silver; a large bunch of flowers adorned the middle of each board. But of food there was no sign except for the dishes of Spanish green olives reposing in the center of each table.

In the door of the galley the head of the startled steward appeared. "Lunch isn't quite ready yet, gentlemen," he expostulated.

"But the bell rang," the hungry diners chorused.

"That was a signal bell from the bridge," explained the steward, "but if you'll wait just a few minutes I'll have it ready for you."

"We'll wait," they assured him. A ravenous silence ensued, which was broken by the remark of one dignified captain of industry to his neighbor:

"Here they've gone and announced over the radio what we're having for lunch. As I recall it, there was tomato soup, roast chicken, sweet potatoes and fruit cake . . . I can't bear it. Please pass the olives!"

As though at a given signal thirty-four simultaneous dives were made for the olive dishes, and within less time than it takes to tell, some three hundred of the piquant green fruit had been torn from their beds of cracked ice and sacrificed on the altar of appetite. Not a one remained.

The door opened. "Luncheon is served," said the steward.

Led by such professionals as Jock Hutchinson and Jim Barnes, and such noted amateurs as Chick Evans, Capt. E. C. Carter and Opie Read, 300 golfers from thirty states will leave Chicago July 30th to play the best courses in the United States Northwest and Western Canada, the entire trip over the Burlington, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Soo Line to last 17 days. This the greatest golf tour ever planned, is being organized and will be personally conducted by Golfers' Magazine, of Chicago. Starting their golf at St. Paul on the White Bear Yacht Club Course and Town and Country Club course they play one after another the principal courses in Helena, Spokane, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle.

Leaving Seattle by "Princess" steamer and passing through beautiful Puget Sound and across the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the golfers will invade Canada, playing the famous Victoria Golf Club and the lone and difficult Colwood Golf and Country Club. Here Jock Hutchinson and Jim Barnes will have a return match against Phil Taylor of Victoria Golf Club and Dave Black of Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, Vancouver, who defeated them at Victoria a few years ago. Victoria Golf Club is a seaside course in a rocky setting overlooking the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Olympia Mountains in Washington, with Mt. Maier rising like a gigantic tee in the distance. Colwood, laid out through a forest of giant Douglas firs and cedars centuries old, is entirely different, but both courses are splendid tests of the game. In Vancouver, Shaughnessy Heights, Jericho Country Club and the Vancouver Golf and Country Club cannot fail to please the visitors.

Moving eastward through the mighty Selkirks and Canadian Rockies the golfers will visit Lake Louise and then play the Banff Golf course, which is wonderful in its picturesqueness and nearly a mile high. Leaving the Rockies, they play the courses at Calgary. Entering the province of Saskatchewan, they will devote a day to the prairie golf of Swift Current, Moose Jaw and Regina, then via Winnipeg, the metropolis of Manitoba, which has eleven 18-hole and eight 9-hole courses as well as an army of ardent golfers. Returning to the United States, Minneapolis will be invaded, then the golfers return to Chicago after having had 15 days of glorious golf and innumerable glimpses of the scenic beauties of the Northwest.

Opie Read, who will be one of the most famous members of this golf party and who plays in the low 80's at 72, declares that "Golf laughs with the school boy and smiles with the philosopher."

The orange is said to indicate a hope of fruitfulness, and the white blossoms, like the rest of the white of the bridal costume, are symbolical of innocence. Orange blossoms as a bridal decoration were introduced in the United States and England about 1820. The custom was of older standing elsewhere.

The Glory of Living

By O. Lawrence Hawthorne

Do something today to bring gladness
To someone whose pleasures are few.
Do something to drive away sadness
Or cause someone's dream to come true.
Find time for a neighborly greeting
And time to enjoy an old friend—
Remember, the years are so fleeting
That life's final day soon will end.

Do something today that tomorrow
Will prove to be truly worth while;
Help someone to overcome sorrow
And greet the new dawn with a smile.
For only through kindness, and giving
Of service and friendship and cheer,
Can we learn the glory of living
And find heaven's happiness here.

Hearing of Woman, Charged With Shooting Husband, Postponed

(By United Press)

Duluth, June 30.—Preliminary hearing of Mrs. Bertha M. Dr. Rippert is recovering from his wounds at a local hospital.

Why Spring Cleaning

The idea of spring cleaning came to the moderns by way of the Dutch people, who borrowed it from the ancient Jews. Cleaning up was a custom associated with the celebration of the passover, which falls about the same time as Easter. The first mention of spring cleaning in the English language appears to have been in the writings of Sir Thomas More, the famous lord chancellor, who was beheaded by Henry VIII.

Bedlam

Bedlam is the old synonym in England for a lunatic asylum. The word is a corruption of Bethlehem, due to the British custom of shortening proper names arbitrarily, as in Boston, for St. Botolph's town, Hadden for Hawarden, etc. The hospital of St. Mary of Bethlehem in London, originally a priory founded about 1245, was afterwards used for the detention of lunatics, and gave rise to the popular use of the name.

Honors Even

An English hostess was very proud over the elevation of one of her family to the house of lords. "This makes the second of our family in the peers," she remarked to one of her callers. "Have you any relation in the house of lords?" "No," was the calm reply, "but I have two maiden aunts in the kingdom of Heaven."—Boston Transcript.

BEMIDJI LANDS ANNUAL WALTON LEAGUE OUTING

DEFEATS BRAINERD FOR THE
1926 CONVENTION

LA PORTE PROVED TO BE AN ABLE HOST SATUR-DAY

(Bemidji Daily Pioneer)

Bemidji was selected by district councilmen of the Izaak Walton league for the 1926 meeting of the sixth district council. This year's meeting, the first of its kind held in the state, was held at Laporte Saturday and was a success of the first water. Bemidji was selected over Brainerd and Cass Lake for the 1926 meeting, although the race was really between Bemidji and Brainerd. The latter city was well represented by Waltonians and their combined effort nearly resulted in the meeting going there. However, they volunteered to throw their support to the Bemidji chapter of the league next year and this meeting will be made one of the biggest events of its kind in the state.

Dr. G. M. Palmer of this city, president of the Bemidji chapter, was elected to an important committee chairmanship at the business meeting there and Bemidji thus landed two plums at the convention. O. L. Kaupanger of Laporte was elected general chairman of the sixth district council at the meeting and the various chairmen of the several committees were elected from several cities in this district. G. F. Marshall of Cass Lake is chairman of the Conservation and Propagation committee, Dr. Palmer is chairman of the New Chapter and Membership committee, A. J. Gould of Staples is chairman of the Legislation committee, Geo. N. Malvin of Long Prairie is chairman of the Education and Publicity committee, and W. R. Hiller of Brainerd is chairman of the Wardsmanship and Enforcement committee. These chairmen each have the right to appoint two members of their committees and according to state secretary Fred H. Doellner of Winona, must get out and do some real work.

About six hundred were in attendance at the meeting in the afternoon, although the morning attendance was not as large. The convention was held in a beautiful grove on the shore of Garfield lake and Laporte certainly deserves the hearty congratulations of Waltonians of this district on the manner in which the meeting was put over. Prominent speakers from different parts of the country were present and gave short talks to the assembled crowd. National President Will Dilg and Governor Theo. Christianson were unable to attend because of other business. The talks in the afternoon by prominent members of the league were well received.

Bait casting furnished a thrill for those who enjoy this sport and some excellent records were set up by Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Mitchell of Bemidji and by Ed. Rogers and daughter of Walker. Liberal prizes were awarded to those making the best scores in this contest, the prizes consisting of fishing tackle and an elaborate bird house which is a replica of the league's lodge at Laporte.

The ball game in the afternoon at 4 o'clock drew a big crowd and there was keen disappointment over the poor showing of the Bemidji team. Cass Lake won the game by a score of 12 to 3.

The evening was taken up with the camp fire meeting and an excellent program provided by Laporte people. "Fish Lies" were heard from enthusiastic fishermen but the winner of this contest is not known. An Indian powwow by real Indians at the camp fire furnished a thrill for Waltonians who had not seen Indians in their aboriginal dress. The barbecue provided by Armour & Co. was a huge success and the visitors enjoyed this feature of the meeting as much as any other.

Fishing was indulged in during the morning and evening by many sportsmen and some good catches were made in Garfield lake. The shooting gallery for the benefit of the elk at Jackson Hole in Wyoming was well patronized during the day and a liberal sum of money was provided in this way.

Bemidji hopes in 1926 to put on as good a program and meeting as was provided at Laporte this year, but it is freely admitted that the chapter here will have "to go some."

Olive Diet Stays Hunger Pangs As Aerial Luncheon Languishes

IN the spacious cabin of the U. S. S. "Los Angeles", soaring like a great silver cloud 2500 feet above the city of Philadelphia, a white-clad steward was setting the table for luncheon. At the windows thirty-four distinguished guests divided their attention between the spreading panorama below and the ever-increasing demands of appetite. From the electric galley were wafted various savory odors.

A bell sounded, and with surprising unanimity the watchers at the windows deserted their posts and took their places around the tables. The white expanses of linen glittered with crystal and silver; a large bunch of flowers adorned the middle of each board. But of food there was no sign except for the dishes of Spanish green olives reposing in the center of each table.

In the door of the galley the head of the startled steward appeared.

"Lunch isn't quite ready yet, gentlemen," he expostulated.

"But the bell rang," the hungry diners chorused.

"That was a signal bell from the bridge," explained the steward, "but if you'll wait just a few minutes I'll have it ready for you."

"We'll wait," they assured him. A ravenous silence ensued, which was broken by the remark of one dignified captain of industry to his neighbor:

"Here they've gone and announced over the radio what we're having for lunch. As I recall it, there was tomato soup, roast chicken, sweet potatoes and fruit cake . . . I can't bear it. Please pass the olives!"

As though at a given signal thirty-four simultaneous dives were made for the olive dishes, and within less time than it takes to tell, some three hundred of the piquant green fruit had been torn from their beds of cracked ice and sacrificed on the altar of appetite. Not a one remained.

The door opened. "Luncheon is served," said the steward.

Nellie Taylor Ross, Governor of Wyoming Aids in Official Opening of Yellowstone

The official opening ceremonies of Yellowstone Park were held recently at the western entrance of the great playground in Montana. Gov. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, Gov. J. E. Erickson of Montana, Gov. C. C. Moore of Idaho and Gov. George H. Dern of Utah took part. These executives laid a huge wreath across the orifice of "Old Faithful" which the governor shot up and broke, scattering the flowers far and wide. The photograph shows Governor Ross framed by the big wreath which is held by Superintendent Horace M. Albright.

CHANGE TRAIN SERVICE IN CITY

Effective Sunday, July 5, Number of Improvements Are Made

TRAINS 31, 32 ABOLISHED

In Place of These Main Line Trains 9 and 10 Will Run St. Paul to Brainerd

Effective Sunday, July 5th, train service in and out of Brainerd is to be very materially changed, and a number of improvements made as regards the shortening of time in transit.

Probably the most radical change in the train service is the abolishment of passenger trains No. 31 and 32, which are now made up at Little Falls from equipment coming from the Morris branch and from St. Paul over the main line. In place of these two day trains into Brainerd from the south, main line trains No. 9 and No. 10 will run from St. Paul to Brainerd instead of between St. Paul and Fargo, N. D., as previously.

Train No. 9, under the new schedule will leave St. Paul at 9:05 a. m., and arrive in Minneapolis at 9:35. It will leave Minneapolis at 9:40 a. m., and arrive in Brainerd at 1:45 in the afternoon, taking the place of No. 31 which now arrives in the city at 2:20 p. m.

Train No. 10, southbound from Brainerd, will leave at 1:15 p. m., arriving in Minneapolis at 5:25 p. m. and arriving in St. Paul at 6 o'clock in the evening, taking the place of No. 32, which now leaves Brainerd at 12:50 o'clock in the afternoon.

Trains No. 9 and No. 10, which have been operated daily between St. Paul and Fargo, will under the new schedule be operated daily except Sunday, between St. Paul and Brainerd. The traveling public has been using No. 9 to Staples from St. Paul on Sundays, connecting there with the afternoon train into Brainerd. It will now be necessary to use another train on Sundays if it is desired to come to Brainerd from the twin cities by way of Staples.

The evening train, No. 11, from St. Paul to Brainerd has also been changed under the new schedule, and will leave St. Paul at 6:10 p. m., daily, arriving in Brainerd at 11 o'clock in the evening, instead of 11:30 its present time of arrival. There is no change in the early morning train to St. Paul.

M. & I. Changes Made

Passenger train service on the Minnesota & International Railway is affected by the above changes. Train No. 31 between Brainerd, Bemidji and Kelliher, that now leaves Brainerd at 2:40 o'clock daily except Sunday, will after July 5th leave Brainerd at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving in Walker at 4:36; Bemidji at 5:45 and Kelliher at 8:05, in the evening.

Returning, train No. 32 will leave Kelliher at 6:55 a. m., Bemidji at 9:10 a. m., Walker at 10:20 a. m., arriving in Brainerd at 12:40 in the afternoon, connecting with train No. 10 to St. Paul at 1:15 o'clock.

Train No. 33, the night passenger to International Falls, beginning Sunday, will leave Brainerd at 11:35 o'clock in the evening, instead of 12:15 a. m., as at present, arriving at Walker at 2:06; Bemidji at 3:20 and International Falls at 8:05 in the morning, materially shortening the running time between these points.

Returning, No. 34 leaving International Falls at 7 o'clock in the evening, and arriving in Brainerd at 3:35 in the morning, will remain unchanged.

Little Falls And Morris

Train service on the branch, between Little Falls and Morris, is greatly affected. The passenger train each way daily except Sunday, will be taken off entirely, and a mixed passenger and freight train substituted.

Lake Superior Division

Changes are noted in the schedule of passenger service through Brainerd on the Lake Superior division. Train No. 57, that now arrives in Brainerd at 12:01 midnight, will under the new time table leave Duluth at 7:15 o'clock in the evening, and arrive in Brainerd at 11:30 p. m., half an hour earlier than at present.

NOTICE

Sealed bids for the construction of a basement at School District No. 114 will be received until 6 p. m., Monday, July 6th, at the school house. Specifications are on file at Holland Furnace Co., and with Fred Larson. A certified check for five per cent (5 per cent) of amount of bid must accompany bid.

The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.
By order of School Board District No. 114.

HONOR MR. AND MRS. GASKILL

60 Old Friends Give Party For Them and Their Daughter, Miss Iva Gaskill

About 60 old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Gaskill gave a farewell party for them and for their daughter, Miss Iva Gaskill, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Clause, at Fort Ripley, on last evening.

The time was most enjoyably spent informally and closed with delicious refreshments. Mrs. Clarence Tucker, in behalf of those present, made a farewell speech, in which she outlined the high esteem in which the honor guests are held by all who know them, and the regret that is felt because of their leaving. Mrs. Tucker then presented them with a refrigerator case for use in motor-ing.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill and Miss Iva expect to leave this week by automobile for Long View, Washington, where they will make their future home. They will visit relatives at Minot, N. D., enroute and will stop at Yellowstone park.

COUNTRY CLUB

TEA WEDNESDAY

Ladies of Club Will Entertain Club Members Beginning at 4 P. M.

FOLLOW NEW CUSTOM

Fortnightly Teas Have Been Designated as "Ladies Day" at the Club

The ladies of the Brainerd Country club will entertain the club members at a tea on Wednesday afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock.

This is following a new custom of entertaining as such a function every two weeks during the summer season, and designated as "Ladies Day" at the club.

The hostesses for Wednesday's tea are Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mrs. Wm. V. Turcotte, Mrs. D. E. Whitney, Mrs. W. C. Cobb and Mrs. F. W. Wieland.

Members are requested to make a special effort to be present. There will be cards for those who do not care to play golf. A special invitation is extended to the men to attend.

KAPPA DELTA CHIANS

Chapter Meets This Evening at Home of Mrs. C. D. McKay

The Kappa Delphian chapter meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. C. D. McKay.

The subject for consideration is "The Age of Chivalry" with Mrs. S. S. Newman, leader.

Bacon insisted that the first object of education is to make a man familiar with his natural environment.

For the next two months the members of this study club are at liberty to turn their thoughts from the study of ancient peoples to the observation of "The Ten Thousand Lakes" and their beautiful environs.

Clara Lutheran Outing

The Luther League of the Clara Lutheran church will hold its July outing at Armstrong's point, South Long lake, on Thursday evening, July 2nd. All members are asked to meet at the church not later than 6 o'clock.

The evening will be spent in an informal way, games of various kinds will be played and a very enjoyable time is assured. A full attendance is desired.

Surprise Party

Mrs. S. A. Saxrud was pleasantly surprised Monday afternoon at her home 809 South Seventh street, by a number of friends and neighbors, it being her birthday.

The afternoon was spent informally after which a delicious luncheon was served, and all departed wishing Mrs. Saxrud many happy returns of the day.

First Baptist Aid

The ladies aid of the First Baptist church will meet Wednesday afternoon, July 1, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Anderson, 915 Bluff Avenue North. Mrs. Gustafson and Mrs. Anderson will entertain. A large attendance is desired and visitors are always welcome.

Ice Cream Social

The Willing Workers are giving an ice cream social at the Swedish Baptist church from 6 to 10 o'clock this evening. Friends and visitors will be welcome.

Strictly a Ford schedule is used in making our charges for repair work. You can charge it at Lively's. 98tf

GEORGE RIDLEY WINS HONORS

Ironton Man, Former Chief of Police of Brainerd, Elected Director of State Police Association

HAS MEMBERSHIP OVER 200

Organization For Next Year Sets Goal at 1500 And Will Meet in Minneapolis

George Ridley, of Ironton, former resident of Brainerd, was elected to the directorate of the Minnesota Police Association, at its annual meeting in Mankato last week.

The association was organized two years ago with a membership of 42. This year over 200 delegates were in attendance. A membership of 1500 will be the goal for next year's attendance, when the annual meeting is held in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley motored to Mankato, and enjoyed a very pleasant outing in connection with the meeting. Of special interest to the delegates were the addresses made by Chief of Police Brunskill, of the Minneapolis police department, Mayor Leach, of Minneapolis, and Judge Comstock of Mankato.

A fingerprint expert from the Minneapolis department explained the necessity of the finger print system in connection with law enforcement and the apprehension and conviction of criminals. It is also important in the prevention of crime, it is pointed out.

The police association went on record as not approving a state constabulary, but rather a co-operation between the police of the cities and the smaller towns, thus making the villages the precincts of the cities, so far as policing is concerned. A move was endorsed to enact a law making it possible for each chief of police to become a secret service officer, with power to act in any part of the state.

Chief Brunskill, of Minneapolis, was elected president of the association. The directorate for the coming year will be composed of Mr. Ridley, L. J. Micka, Hibbing, Fred McIntyre, Kasota, A. D. Jacobson, Minneapolis, W. J. Holst, Perham.

Local in a Monument

Most visitors to Windsor Great park have seen the equestrian statue of George III which stands at the far end of the Broad walk.

It is a huge statue, and when it was erected in 1823 the horse's body was first set up, then its head fixed, and lastly the figure of the king was seated upon his steed. Just before the head was fixed one of the officials of the castle, and six friends, had dinner inside the body of the horse. After all parts of the statue had been closed up and hermetically sealed, they remembered that a short ladder had been left inside. That ladder is there still.—London Tit-Bits.

Costly Fishing

The high cost of salmon fishing in private Scottish waters has gone higher this year. For some reason the fish have refused to provide sport for the wealthy anglers as in other seasons, says a writer in the New York World. The salmon population of the River Spey this year was estimated at 300, compared with approximately 2,000 in normal seasons.

A sportsman is said to have paid $3.50 weekly for the privilege of using one fishing rod. He remained five weeks and caught one fish at a cost of $17.50.

Remarkable Feat

William Shakespeare—the other William, who has written a book called "Plain Words on Singing"—tells an amusing incident about Lablache—the greatest basso of all time—whom a friend of his knew intimately. At dinner one day, Lablache, full of fun, sang a long note from piano to forte and back to piano; then drank a glass of wine, without having breathed; then sang a chromatic scale up the octave in trills still in the same breath, and finally blew out a candle with his mouth open.

There were giants in those days!

Lake Superior is the deepest of the Great Lakes, most of it being more than 600 feet, as compared to Lake Erie's maximum depth of 180 feet. North of Copper Harbor, Mich., Lake Superior attains 954 feet, but the greatest depth is about 20 miles off Otter Head, Ontario—1,005 feet.

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen will give a farewell party on Wednesday evening, July 1st, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Gaskill, who are leaving the city soon to make their home in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill have taken a very active part in the lodge work, he being formerly correspondent for the local homestead. Both of these good members will be sorely missed in Yeomen circles.

Wednesday evening's party will consist of dancing, games and light refreshments. It is hoped that all members will make a special effort to be present.

260 REGISTERED MAY 30TH

500 So Far Have Registered at Camp in Month of June

The Brainerd Tourist camp is proving just as popular with the summer visitors this year as it has in past seasons, and with increased facilities is better equipped than ever to care for those coming to the lake country.

The camp was officially opened on Memorial Day, 260 tourists being registered on that day, the largest number that have been received in one day so far this season.

In all, about 500 visitors have registered at the camp during the month of June. This is not as many as had been expected, the smaller number being due, it is believed, to the cold, rainy weather, and the fact that there is a backward spring.

A change has been made in the registration system of tourists stopping at the camp. This year each party registers on a duplicate slip, which gives the date, names and number in the party, car license number and remarks. A duplicate copy is given to the party, which acts as a receipt for the fee paid.

Recently five cars of tourists from California, one from Texas and one from Oklahoma spent the night at the camp. Many visitors are also coming from eastern states. All are unanimous in their verdict that the Brainerd tourist camp is the finest that they have visited so far this season, and is kept up the best of any in the Northwest.

The park board is now making plans to build an addition 14 ft. by 20 ft. to the north side of the caretaker's cottage. This addition will be screened in on all sides except the west, and will be fitted up with furniture as a rest and recreation center. A piano may be installed, if one can be rented reasonably for the summer season. Other additions include two more sanitary toilets and several tables.

Lloyd Lewis, University student, and Fred Parks are the caretakers.

CHANGE TRAIN SERVICE IN CITY

Effective Sunday, July 5, Number of Improvements Are Made

TRAINS 31, 32 ABOLISHED

In Place of These Main Line Trains 9 and 10 Will Run St. Paul to Brainerd

Effective Sunday, July 5th, train service in and out of Brainerd is to be very materially changed, and a number of improvements made as regards the shortening of time in transit.

Probably the most radical change in the train service is the abolishment of passenger trains No. 31 and 32, which are now made up at Little Falls from equipment coming from the Morris branch and from St. Paul over the main line. In place of these two day trains into Brainerd from the south, main line trains No. 9 and No. 10 will run from St. Paul to Brainerd instead of between St. Paul and Fargo, N. D., as previously.

Train No. 9, under the new schedule will leave St. Paul at 9:05 a. m., and arrive in Minneapolis at 9:35. It will leave Minneapolis at 9:40 a. m., and arrive in Brainerd at 1:45 in the afternoon, taking the place of No. 31 which now arrives in the city at 2:20 p. m.

Train No. 10, southbound from Brainerd, will leave at 1:15 p. m., arriving in Minneapolis at 5:25 p. m. and arriving in St. Paul at 6 o'clock in the evening, taking the place of No. 32, which now leaves Brainerd at 12:50 o'clock in the afternoon.

Trains No. 9 and No. 10, which have been operated daily between St. Paul and Fargo, will under the new schedule be operated daily except Sunday, between St. Paul and Brainerd. The traveling public has been using No. 9 to Staples from St. Paul on Sundays, connecting there with the afternoon train into Brainerd. It will now be necessary to use another train on Sundays if it is desired to come to Brainerd from the twin cities by way of Staples.

The evening train, No. 11, from St. Paul to Brainerd has also been changed under the new schedule, and will leave St. Paul at 6:10 p. m., daily, arriving in Brainerd at 11 o'clock in the evening, instead of 11:30 its present time of arrival. There is no change in the early morning train to St. Paul.

M. & I. Changes Made

Passenger train service on the Minnesota & International Railway is affected by the above changes. Train No. 31 between Brainerd, Bemidji and Kelliher, that now leaves Brainerd at 2:40 o'clock daily except Sunday, will after July 5th leave Brainerd at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving in Walker at 4:36; Bemidji at 5:45 and Kelliher at 8:05 in the evening.

Returning, train No. 32 will leave Kelliher at 6:55 a. m., Bemidji at 9:10 a. m., Walker at 10:20 a. m., arriving in Brainerd at 12:40 in the afternoon, connecting with train No. 10 to St. Paul at 1:15 o'clock.

Train No. 33, the night passenger to International Falls, beginning Sunday, will leave Brainerd at 11:35 o'clock in the evening, instead of 12:15 a. m., as at present, arriving at Walker at 2:06; Bemidji at 3:20 and International Falls at 8:05 in the morning, materially shortening the running time between these points.

Returning, No. 34 leaving International Falls at 7 o'clock in the evening, and arriving in Brainerd at 3:35 in the morning, will remain unchanged.

Little Falls And Morris

Train service on the branch, between Little Falls and Morris, is greatly affected. The passenger train each way daily except Sunday, will be taken off entirely, and a mixed passenger and freight train substituted.

Lake Superior Division

Changes are noted in the schedule of passenger service through Brainerd on the Lake Superior division. Train No. 57, that now arrives in Brainerd at 12:01 midnight, will under the new time table leave Duluth at 7:15 o'clock in the evening, and arrive in Brainerd at 11:30 p. m., half an hour earlier than at present.

NOTICE

Sealed bids for the construction of a basement at School District No. 114 will be received until 6 p. m. Monday, July 6th, at the School house. Specifications are on file at Holland Furnace Co. and with Fred Larson. A certified check for five per cent (5 per cent) of amount of bid must accompany bid.

The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.

By order of School Board District No. 114.

HONOR MR. AND MRS. GASKILL

60 Old Friends Give Party For Them and Their Daughter, Miss Iva Gaskill

About 60 old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Gaskill gave a farewell party for them and for their daughter, Miss Iva Gaskill, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Clause, at Fort Ripley, on last evening.

The time was most enjoyably spent informally and closed with delicious refreshments. Mrs. Clarence Tucker in behalf of those present, made a farewell speech, in which she outlined the high esteem in which the honor guests are held by all who know them, and the regret that is felt because of their leaving. Mrs. Tucker then presented them with a refrigerator case for use in motor-ing.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill and Miss Iva expect to leave this week by automobile for Long View, Washington, where they will make their future home. They will visit relatives at Minot, N. D., enroute and will stop at Yellowstone park.

FOLLOW NEW CUSTOM

Fortnightly Teas Have Been Designated as "Ladies Day" at the Club

The ladies of the Brainerd Country Club will entertain the club members at a tea on Wednesday afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock.

This is following a new custom of entertaining as such a function every two weeks during the summer season, and designated as "Ladies Day" at the club.

The hostesses for Wednesday's tea are Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mrs. Wm. V. Turcotte, Mrs. D. E. Whitney, Mrs. W. C. Cobb and Mrs. F. W. Wieland.

Members are requested to make a special effort to be present. There will be cards for those who do not care to play golf. A special invitation is extended to the men to attend.

KAPPA DELPHIANS

Chapter Meets This Evening at Home of Mrs. C. D. McKay

The Kappa Delphian chapter meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. C. D. McKay.

The subject for consideration is "The Age of Chivalry" with Mrs. S. S. Newman, leader.

Bacon insisted that the first object of education is to make a man familiar with his natural environment. For the next two months the members of this study club are at liberty to turn their thoughts from the study of ancient peoples to the observation of "The Ten Thousand Lakes" and their beautiful environs.

Clara Lutheran Outing

The Luther League of the Clara Lutheran church will hold its July outing at Armstrong's point, South Long lake, on Thursday evening, July 2nd. All members are asked to meet at the church not later than 6 o'clock.

The evening will be spent in an informal way, games of various kinds will be played and a very enjoyable time is assured. A full attendance is desired.

Surprise Party

Mrs. S. A. Saxrud was pleasantly surprised Monday afternoon at her home 809 South Seventh street, by a number of friends and neighbors, it being her birthday.

The afternoon was spent informally after which a delicious luncheon was served, and all departed wishing Mrs. Saxrud many happy returns of the day.

First Baptist Aid

The ladies aid of the First Baptist church will meet Wednesday afternoon, July 1, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Anderson, 915 Bluff Avenue North. Mrs. Gustafson and Mrs. Anderson will entertain. A large attendance is desired and visitors are always welcome.

Ice Cream Social

Ironton Man, Former Chief of Police of Brainerd, Elected Director of State Police Association

HAS MEMBERSHIP OVER 200

Organization for Next Year Sets Goal at 1500 And Will Meet in Minneapolis

George Ridley, of Ironton, former resident of Brainerd, was elected to the directorate of the Minnesota Police Association, at its annual meeting in Mankato last week.

The association was organized two years ago with a membership of 42. This year over 200 delegates were in attendance. A membership of 1500 will be the goal for next year's attendance, when the annual meeting is held in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley motored to Mankato, and enjoyed a very pleasant outing in connection with the meeting. Of special interest to the delegates were the addresses made by Chief of Police Brunskill, of the Minneapolis police department, Mayor Leach, of Minneapolis, and Judge Comstock of Mankato.

A fingerprint expert from the Minneapolis department explained the necessity of the finger print system in connection with law enforcement and the apprehension and conviction of criminals. It is also important in the prevention of crime, it is pointed out.

The police association went on record as not approving a state constabulary, but rather a co-operation between the police of the cities and the smaller towns, thus making the villages the precincts of the cities, so far as policing is concerned. A move was endorsed to enact a law making it possible for each chief of police to become a secret service officer, with power to act in any part of the state.

Chief Brunskill, of Minneapolis, was elected president of the association. The directorate for the coming year will be composed of Mr. Ridley, L. J. Micka, Hibbing, Fred McIntyre, Kasota, A. D. Jacobson, Minneapolis, W. J. Holst, Perham.

Local in a Monument

Most visitors to Windsor Park have seen the equestrian statue of George III which stands at the far end of the Broad walk.

It is a huge statue, and when it was erected in 1823 the horse's body was first set up, then its head fixed, and lastly the figure of the king was seated upon his steed. Just before the head was fixed one of the officials of the castle, and six friends, had dinner inside the body of the horse. After all parts of the statue had been closed up and hermetically sealed, they remembered that a short ladder had been left inside. That ladder is there still.—London Tit-Bits.

Costly Fishing

The high cost of salmon fishing in private Scottish waters has gone higher this year. For some reason the fish have refused to provide sport for the wealthy anglers as in other seasons, says a writer in the New York World. The salmon population of the River Spey this year was estimated at 300, compared with approximately 2000 in normal seasons.

A sportsman is said to have paid $3.50 weekly for the privilege of using one fishing rod. He remained five weeks and caught one fish at a cost of $17.50.

Remarkable Feat

William Shakespeare—the other William, who has written a book called "Plain Words on Singing"—tells an amusing incident about Lablache—the greatest basso of all time—when a friend of his knew intimately. At dinner one day, Lablache, full of fun, sang a long note from piano to forte and back to piano; then drank a glass of wine, without having breathed; then sang a chromatic scale up the octave in trills still in the same breath, and finally blew out a candle with his mouth open.

There were giants in those days!

Lake Superior is the deepest of the Great Lakes, most of it being more than 600 feet, as compared to Lake Erie's maximum depth of 180 feet. North of Copper Harbor, Mich., Lake Superior attains 934 feet, but the greatest depth is about 20 miles off Otter Head, Ontario—1,005 feet.

Women to Give One Wednesday Evening in Honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Gaskill

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen will give a farewell party on Wednesday evening, July 1st, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Gaskill, who are leaving the city soon to make their home in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaskill have taken a very active part in the lodge work, he being formerly correspondent for the local homestead. Both of these good members will be sorely missed in Yeomen circles.

Wednesday evening's party will consist of dancing, games and light refreshments. It is hoped that all members will make a special effort to be present.

BRAINERD TOURIST CAMP POPULAR

With Increased Facilities It is Well Equipped to Care For Visitors

260 REGISTERED MAY 30TH

500 So Far Have Registered at Camp in Month of June

The Brainerd Tourist camp is proving just as popular with the summer visitors this year as it has in past seasons, and with increased facilities is better equipped than ever to care for those coming to the lake country.

The camp was officially opened on Memorial Day, 260 tourists being registered on that day, the largest number that have been received in one day so far this season.

In all, about 500 visitors have registered at the camp during the month of June. This is not as many as had been expected, the smaller number being due, it is believed, to the cold, rainy weather, and the fact that there is a backward spring.

A change has been made in the registration system of tourists stopping at the camp. This year each party registers on a duplicate slip, which gives the date, names and number in the party, car license number and remarks. A duplicate copy is given to the party, which acts as a receipt for the fee paid.

Recently five cars of tourists from California, one from Texas and one from Oklahoma spent the night at the camp. Many visitors are also coming from eastern states. All are unanimous in their verdict that the Brainerd tourist camp is the finest that they have visited so far this season, and is kept up the best of any in the Northwest.

The park board is now making plans to build an addition 14 ft. by 20 ft. to the north side of the caretaker's cottage. This addition will be screened in on all sides except the west, and will be fitted up with furniture as a rest and recreation center. A piano may be installed, if one can be rented reasonably for the summer season. Other additions include two more sanitary toilets and several tables.

Lloyd Lewis, University student, and Fred Parks are the caretakers.

YOUTH TO TAKE MORE SOCKS AT AGE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 30.—That gent familiarly known as Youth will get an opportunity to take another sock at Age in July when the veteran Harry Wills, the recognized challenger of Jack Dempsey, meets Charley Weinert, the comeback Jersey heavyweight, in a fifteen-round bout at the Polo Grounds.

Weinert isn't the sprightliest nor the youngest representative of youth, but he is not as old as Wills, who is the eldest of all the battlers since Tom Gibbons had his career finished by Gene Tunney.

There will be another opportunity for age to take a smack when Harry Greb, the veteran middleweight champion, exposes his chin to the youthful Mickey Walker, the welterweight champion. Greb isn't an old man according to the ordinary standards, but he is old for a fighter and he has been in the game for a long time, while Walker is only getting a good start.

The whole heavyweight situation, which was altered when Gibbons went down and Tunney went up, may be simplified as a result of the Wills-Weinert fight. Unless Wills wins decisively, he cannot hope to be considered as the first challenger of Dempsey or the successor to the title if Dempsey lets the public know that he has retired.

On the basis of the bad showing that Wills made against Bartley Madden and Luis Firpo and the better showing that Weinert made against Firpo, it would seem that most anything could happen when they meet tonight. There are some who claim that for political purposes, Wills was forced under a full in his fights against Madden and Firpo and that there is so much at stake he will cut loose against Weinert and show what he really is.

Weinert is no sucker and it is not believed that he could be prevailed upon to do business because the heavyweight situation is becoming so open that almost anyone may stand for a shot at the title. Weinert one time was considered as the best prospect in the class, but he went the way of Broadway and knocked himself out of chances. He seems to have been serious in the announced intention of coming back when he took up matrimony, and if he is trained well he will be anything but a mark for Wills.

Billy McCarney will be back of Weinert and there are bound to be many and loud squawks if Wills attempts to employ his favorite trick of hitting and holding. Although it is strictly against the rules, Wills, for some reason, seems able to get away with it with any referee. He fouled Firpo by hitting him on the breakaway and knocked him down, but the referee didn't say a word and the seconds in Firpo's corner were too green to know what it was all about.

Wills can have no excuses. If he is not good enough to beat Weinert with some demonstration of class he is not good enough to deserve any sympathy from a public that may believe he has been given a very rotten deal from Jack Dempsey. In refusing to fight Gibbons, George Godfrey and Jack Renault, Wills gave reasons to believe that he was looking merely for a big loser's end with Dempsey and that he was afraid to show himself up by meeting a good man.

SPIRIT OF RUTH LOST TO YANKEES

INJURY TO ANKLE AND OTHER TROUBLE FORCES HIM OUT OF GAME

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 30.—The inspiration of Babe Ruth which carried the Yankees to the top of the American League in recent years is lost to the tribe of Huggins for the rest of one season.

The Babe himself may go back into the game, but his spirit is gone and he would just be the ninth man on the ball team. Ruth is going to a hospital here Thursday to have an X-ray taken of his right ankle, where the bone is crippled. This comes on the heels of an injury to his left leg and ankle.

"I'll be lucky if I play again this season," the Babe said, his petulant boyish mouth drooping even lower than usual. "And I certainly don't expect to have any luck."

Ruth is in one of those frames of mind that goes with rainy picnic days. To add to his physical ailments the Babe is said to be in financial straits.

The farm at Sudbury, Mass., where the Babe once kept his promise to the kids of New York and where he got into condition to hit more home runs than anyone else, is to be sold.

Ruth says he is not disposing of it because he needs the money but on the other hand there is not a sign of prosperity.

Ruth wants $50,000 for the farm and he is remaining in Boston where the Yankees are playing in the hopes of finding a purchaser.

"I certainly am down in the mouth when I think about my luck," he said. "Here I expected to bust my home run record this year. I never felt better in my life. Then I got knocked flat on my back and have not been right since."

If the X-ray shows Ruth's injury not serious he may get into a good many games as a pinch hitter and possibly return to the line up as a regular outfielder.

But the best Manager Huggins hopes for is a fresh start, as an inspiration for his team mates in 1926.

A foul tip struck his right ankle during batting practice a week ago, but at that time he paid no attention to it. Later the ankle became badly swollen.

DE HART HUBBARD WINS ANOTHER BROAD JUMP AT NATIONAL GUARD GAMES

This great negro athlete who won the degree a little over a week ago from the University of Michigan and on the same day that he jumped 25 feet, is shown here winning the running broad jump in the games of the 3rd Battalion, 372 Infantry, Massachusetts National Guard. The games were held at Roxbury, Mass., and Hubbard leaped 24 feet, 6 inches on the grass.

JONES IS JINX FOR ELKS TEAM, B. A. C. WIN 5 TO 2

JONES IN GRAND FORM, ALLOW- ING BUT SIX HITS

VAN WALK PITCHED GOOD BALL, BUT HIS MATES WERE NOT EFFECTIVE IN SCORING

Jones turned the Elks back last night in a pitchers' battle by a count of 5 to 2.

Jones worked in grand form, allowing only six hits and was effective throughout the game. He only had one bad inning and that was the third when the Elks crossed the plate for two runs.

Van Walk pitched good ball, but his mates were unable to connect with Jones' offerings.

The victory places the B. A. C. in a tie for first place with the Elks.

The Y. play the Workmen tonight at 6 o'clock.

HAGEN AND GEORGE WIN AT ROCHESTER

FAMOUS GOLFER SETS TWO MIN- NESOTA COURSE RECORDS IN SINGLE DAY

Rochester, Minn., June 30.—Walter Hagen, American professional golf champion and former British open title holder, set a new record for the Rochester golf course in an exhibition match here Sunday. He made the 18 holes in 72, breaking the former mark of 73 held by Chick Evans and John Hudson, made in 1924. Par for the course is 71.

Paired with Dow George, professional at the Minneapolis Golf club, Hagen defeated Harrison R. Johnston, state and western amateur champion, and Jimmy Alves, professional at the Rochester club. George turned in a 79. Johnston got 79 and Alves went around in 78.

Hagen broke the course record at the Winona Country Club Sunday morning in an exhibition match by shooting 38 and 37 for a 75. Johnston, matched with Hagen against two Winona players, scored 38-41—79. Ben Knight, Winona pro, 39-41—80, and J. R. Chappell, Winona champion, 42-43—85. The visitors won three up and two.

Young Golfer Shows Class

Dixie has a coming national figure in golf in Miss Marion Turple, the 18-year-old daughter of Prof. Ben Turple, of New Orleans. She was the sensation of the recent southern golf tournament at Nashville.

Notwithstanding that a court has just ruled baggy trousers are Charles Chaplin's private property, six-tenths of the male population are wearing them.—Passaic Daily Herald.

Much unnecessary mystery has been made of the straight left arm in the golf swing. About the only mystery in it is why so many golfers fail to use it. The reason for it is simplicity itself. Take a ruler or lead pencil or golf club. Hold it by one end and touch some object with the other. Hold the end steadily and swing the other end away from the point first touched. Bring it back, and again the other end, and the object are in contact. That is exactly what happens when the left arm is kept straight in a golf swing. The club is soled back of the ball, then raised in the back swing and then brought back to the ball in the forward swing. Not much mystery about that.

But, just for experiment, bend the left elbow on the back swing and, as is so often seen, fail to straighten it on the forward swing and see what happens. The chances are you will miss the ball entirely. Try another experiment. Sole the club behind the ball and close the eyes tight. Then be sure the left arm is straight all the time and finish the full swing. The chances are you will hit the ball perfectly. The straight left arm did it. Follow this by sitting down to a table and stretching your left arm straight in front with the fingers closed as much as they would be in grasping a golf club. Don't stiffen the arm, but be sure it is straight. Keeping the arm straight, sweep the arm clear to the right and then to the left. It isn't a hard thing to do on the table and while you are watching the arm. It would be advisable to keep up the practice on the table until you get the feel of it. Then try to do the same thing with a golf club. It will not be as easy but watch the arm instead of the ball and you soon will get the arm working correctly.

The virtue of these experiments is that you will get not only that part of the golf swing but the equally valuable knowledge of what it is for. Right there is the reason why so many lessons go to waste. The pupil may get any part of the swing correctly but may lose it at any time if he does not know the reason for it. YOUTH TO TAKE MORE SOCKS AT AGE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 30.—That gent familiarly known as Youth will get an opportunity to take another sock at Age in July when the veteran Harry Wills, the recognized challenger of Jack Dempsey, meets Charley Weinert, the comeback Jersey heavyweight, in a fifteen-round bout at the Polo Grounds.

Weinert isn't the sprightliest nor the youngest representative of youth, but he is not as old as Wills, who is the eldest of all the battlers since Tom Gibbons had his career finished by Gene Tunney.

There will be another opportunity for age to take a smack when Harry Greb, the veteran middleweight champion, exposes his chin to the youthful Mickey Walker, the welterweight champion. Greb isn't an old man according to the ordinary standards, but he is old for a fighter and he has been in the game for a long time, while Walker is only getting a good start.

The whole heavyweight situation, which was altered when Gibbons went down and Tunney went up, may be simplified as a result of the Wills-Weinert fight. Unless Wills wins decisively, he cannot hope to be considered as the first challenger of Dempsey or the successor to the title if Dempsey lets the public know that he has retired.

On the basis of the bad showing that Wills made against Bartley Madden and Luis Firpo and the better showing that Weinert made against Firpo, it would seem that most anything could happen when they meet tonight. There are some who claim that for political purposes, Wills was forced under a full in his fights against Madden and Firpo and that there is so much at stake he will cut loose against Weinert and show what he really is.

Weinert is no sucker and it is not believed that he could be prevailed upon to do business because the heavyweight situation is becoming so open that almost anyone may stand for a shot at the title. Weinert one time was considered as the best prospect in the class, but he went the way of Broadway and knocked himself out of chances. He seems to have been serious in the announced intention of coming back when he took up matrimony, and if he is trained well he will be anything but a mark for Wills.

Billy McCarney will be back of Weinert and there are bound to be many and loud squawks if Wills attempts to employ his favorite trick of hitting and holding. Although it is strictly against the rules, Wills, for some reason, seems able to get away with it with any referee. He fouled Firpo by hitting him on the breakaway and knocked him down, but the referee didn't say a word and the seconds in Firpo's corner were too green to know what it was all about.

Wills can have no excuses. If he is not good enough to beat Weinert with some demonstration of class he is not good enough to deserve any sympathy from a public that may believe he has been given a very rotten deal from Jack Dempsey. In refusing to fight Gibbons, George Godfrey and Jack Renault, Wills gave reasons to believe that he was looking merely for a big boss's end with Dempsey and that he was afraid to show himself up by meeting a good man.

SPIRIT OF RUTH
LOST TO YANKEESINJURY TO ANKLE AND OTHER
TROUBLE FORCES HIM OUT OF GAME

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 30.—The inspiration of Babe Ruth which carried the Yankees to the top of the American League in recent years is lost to the tribe of Huggins for the rest of one season.

The Babe himself may go back into the game, but his spirit is gone and he would just be the ninth man on the ball team. Ruth is going to a hospital here Thursday to have an X-ray taken of his right ankle, where the bone is crippled. This comes on the heels of an injury to his left leg and ankle.

"I'll be lucky if I play again this season," the Babe said, his petulant boyish mouth drooping even lower than usual. "And I certainly don't expect to have any luck."

Ruth is in one of those frames of mind that goes with rainy picnic days. To add to his physical ailments the Babe is said to be in financial straits.

The farm at Sudbury, Mass., where the Babe once kept his promise to the kids of New York and where he got into condition to hit more home runs than anyone else, is to be sold.

Ruth says he is not disposing of it because he needs the money but on the other hand there is not a sign of prosperity.

Ruth wants $50,000 for the farm and he is remaining in Boston where the Yankees are playing in the hopes of finding a purchaser.

"I certainly am down in the mouth when I think about my luck," he said. "Here I expected to bust my home run record this year. I never felt better in my life. Then I got knocked flat on my back and have not been right since."

If the X-ray shows Ruth's injury not serious he may get into a good many games as a pinch hitter and possibly return to the line up as a regular outfielder.

But the best Manager Huggins hopes for is a fresh start, as an inspiration for his team mates in 1926.

A foul tip struck his right ankle during batting practice a week ago, but at that time he paid no attention to it. Later the ankle became badly swollen.

HAGEN AND GEORGE
WIN AT ROCHESTERFAMOUS GOLFER SETS TWO MIN-NESOTA COURSE RECORDS
IN SINGLE DAY

Rochester, Minn., June 30.—Walter Hagen, American professional golf champion and former British open title holder, set a new record for the Rochester golf course in an exhibition match here Sunday. He made the 18 holes in 72, breaking the former mark of 73 held by Chick Evans and John Hudson, made in 1924. Par for the course is 71.

Paired with Dow George, professional at the Minneapolis Golf club, Hagen defeated Harrison R. Johnston, state and western amateur champion, and Jimmy Alves, professional at the Rochester club. George turned in a 79. Johnston got 79 and Alves went around in 78.

Hagen broke the course record at the Winona Country Club Sunday morning in an exhibition match by shooting 38 and 37 for a 75. Johnston, matched with Hagen against two Winona players, scored 38-41—79. Ben Knight, Winona pro, 39-41—80, and J. R. Chappell, Winona champion, 42-43—85. The visitors won three up and two.
